

Civil Registry Bureau To Fingerprint Every Citizen Urged at Albany

State Department of Justice Is Suggested. Similar to Federal Unit, But Receives No Outright Endorsement by Groups.

CRIME ANALYSIS

"Unofficial" Recommendations Include Change in School Curricula, Firearms Prohibition.

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 2 (AP)—Establishment of a civil registry bureau under state direction for compulsory fingerprinting of all citizens was recommended today by Governor Herbert H. Lehman's crime conference today by Bruce Smith, a member of the state law revision commission.

Such a bureau, Smith said, should in time eliminate from the public mind the stigma now attached to the practice of fingerprinting. Pointing out that universal fingerprinting has been discussed for 30 years and has been adopted only in Latin American countries, the speaker told the "crime and apprehension" round table of the conference that education would in time eradicate the public frown.

"We know the value of fingerprinting for the general public good," he said. "We know, too, there might even be constitutional difficulties to be met and overcome. Our task, however, is to find some means of educating the citizen to distinguish between civil and criminal fingerprinting. A state bureau of civil registry should accomplish this important step."

The framework for contemplated new laws to stamp out crime and racketeering in New York state was laid today by attorneys, penologists, educators and state and municipal officials attending Governor Lehman's crime conference.

A series of proposals, headed by a suggestion for the establishment of a state department of justice similar to the federal unit with its "G" men, were advanced in addresses and round table discussions as the conference entered its third day.

The suggestion for a state department of justice, urged by George Z. Medalle, former United States attorney for the southern district of New York, failed to receive outright endorsement by round table groups but was expected to be given considerable attention when new anti-crime laws would be drawn up for presentation to the 1936 legislature.

Thus far, conference have concentrated their efforts on analyzing all phases of the crime problem and suggesting ways and means of striking at the roots of the criminal element. Some of the "unofficial" recommendations to be considered by the governor and his advisors in drafting new laws follow:

A change in school curricula based on the child's ability to learn. In this respect it was agreed by one group that a curriculum unadapted to the abilities and interests of school children is "an important contributing cause of truancy, delinquency and adult criminality."

Complete prohibition of private sales and the distribution of firearms to licensees only after extended police investigation.

That every firearm, of a size that may be concealed on a person, be registered in the same manner, and for the same reasons, that automobiles now are registered, and that a "registration certificate" accompany the weapon from the seller through its various owners; the transfers to be handled just as automobile registration transfers now are handled.

Prohibit district attorneys and county judges to practice civil law.

That instead of having a district attorney in each county, a number of the rural counties to be combined into one district.

Indeterminate sentences for "repeaters," such as alcoholics, vagrants and drug addicts, in order that the department of correction may work out their rehabilitation and after care.

A change in the public charities law which would compel parents to pay for state care of their children, if they are able to do so.

Organization of all probation in the state, exclusive of New York city, on a county basis with one department in each county to serve all the courts of the county.

A proposal for appointment of district attorneys by the governor, rather than election. Several speakers, including District Attorneys Henry Hirschberg of Orange county, J. L. Taylor of Dutchess county and John R. Schwartz of Dutchess county, opposed the move on the ground that district attorneys should be responsible to the people who know them and their ability.

At last night's session former Governor Nathan L. Miller struck at "paragons of the criminal" and urged that "the criminal must not be treated as a hero or an object of sympathy."

Treasury Receipts

Washington, Oct. 2 (AP)—The position of the treasury on September 30 was: receipts $22,474,439.42; expenditures, $22,455,443.44; balance, $18,998,995.98; customs receipts, $1,798,552.69; revenue from the sale of the federal year (June 1) $998,168,662.61; expenditures, $1,800,000,000.00 (including $44,000,000.00 of emergency expenditures); balance, $1,798,552.69; revenue from the sale of the federal year (June 1) $998,168,662.61; expenditures, $1,800,000,000.00 (including $44,000,000.00 of emergency expenditures); balance, $1,798,552.69.

Operatic Singer at Benedictine Exercises

Through the generosity of Pierre Henrotte, the graduating exercises of the Benedictine Hospital will have an exceptionally fine operatic singer on its musical program.

Miss Cecile Jacobson, who had the leading part as Isolde in the grand opera "Cavalleria Rusticana," will be heard in several charming solos tonight. Miss Jacobson is head of the singing department in the Ernest Williams' School of Music with headquarters in Brooklyn and Saugerties. Besides being an outstanding vocal instructor, Miss Jacobson is director at Bethany Presbyterian Church in Brooklyn. She is also soloist with Kismet Temple, Temple Band, Brooklyn, and soloist of the Westminster Choir of Brooklyn.

Miss Ruth Harsha, an accomplished pianist and teacher, will accompany Miss Jacobson and Mr. Henrotte. Miss Harsha is a graduate of the George Eastman School of Music of Rochester, New York. She is organist at the Central Methodist Church of Brooklyn and president of the Alumni Chapter of the Sigma Alpha Iota, which is a National Musical Fraternity for women. Miss Harsha is head of the piano department of the Williams' School of Music and was the assistant conductor of the grand opera "Cavalleria Rusticana."

With this excellent musical program and Dr. Thomas Ordway, Dean of the Albany Medical College, as the principal speaker the graduating exercises will no doubt be one of rare excellence.

The Very Rev. John J. Stanley, dean and president of the hospital, will confer diplomas on the young ladies who have completed their three years of training in the Benedictine Hospital.

The many patrons and friends of the hospital are extended a cordial invitation by the sisters and graduates to attend the exercises this evening.

S. S. VOLENDAM SAILS TO RETURN PASSENGERS

New York, Oct. 2 (AP)—The S. S. Volendam, leaving today, is scheduled to arrive in Kingston, Jamaica, Sunday to pick up the cruise passengers who were taken off the stranded liner Rotterdam.

The 460 passengers and about 250 of the crew will be brought back to New York from where the Rotterdam started. They have been put up in Kingston hotels since their rescue by the S. S. Ariquani Tuesday morning.

The Rotterdam, after a reef at Morant Cays which it struck early Monday, still has a skeleton crew under Captain Johan Van Dulken. Salvage tugs were attempting to refloat it.

Allerton Lecture Has Been Cancelled

The Kingston Federation of Women's Clubs greatly regrets that it must announce that the lecture on "Imperial Policy" to be given by Walter W. Allerton at the Kingston High School on October 22, will have to be cancelled. A telegram just received from Mr. Allerton states that his management has decided the withdrawal of this most outstanding lecture until next season. On account of that fact and the change of time pertaining to the lecture, it will be necessary to postpone the matter indefinitely.

Elting Is Named Chairman; Eaton Reveals Startling Facts

STILL AT THE HELM

For the 31st time, Philip Elting of Kingston, astute and successful leader of the Republican party in Ulster county since April, 1904, and recognized as one of the outstanding leaders of his party in the state, has been named to succeed himself as chairman of the Ulster County Republican Committee.

Mr. Elting was unanimously re-elected to the position at the organization meeting of the committee held in the Y. M. C. A. Auditorium Tuesday night, attended, despite the unfavorable weather, by about 100 members of the committee from all parts of Ulster county. The term is for two years.

The meeting was called to order at 8.20 by James A. Simpson, county clerk and secretary of the organization, who read the call for the meeting and then called the roll of the committeemen from the towns of the county.

Committeemen Important

Following Mr. Elting's reelection as chairman, which was received with applause by the crowd which filled the auditorium, there being a large attendance of Republican men and women outside of the official members present, Mr. Elting took the chair and addressed the meeting on the importance of the office of district committeemen, the necessity of political parties in our scheme of government and the necessity of organization within those parties if they are to function. "The committeemen," said the chairman, "manage the affairs of the party—and the successful party manages the affairs of the government." He called attention to the fact that in the last analysis responsibility for good government goes back to the people who choose the committeemen.

Chairman Elting referred to the attempts to make an issue, in some cases, between the so-called "Old Guard" and the "Young Republicans." He suggested that "time takes care of those things," and as an illustration, called attention to the fact that all the men who were members of the county committee in Ulster county when he assumed the chairmanship 31 years ago, but three besides himself were still members—George W. Garrison of Rochester, Joel Brink of the town of Ulster and William M. Kolts of Kingston. These veterans of the political battles of 31 years were present and on invitation took seats on the platform.

The chairman then called for nominations for the position of secretary of the county committee. But one name was presented, that of James A. Simpson, the present secretary. He was unanimously elected. "Joel Brink, of the Old Guard," being asked to cast the ballot of the meeting for Mr. Simpson. For treasurer of the committee, Christopher K. Loughran, who was elected secretary at the time Mr. Elting was first elected chairman, in 1904, but who for some years past has served as treasurer, was again re-elected to that office. George W. Garrison, another of the "Old Guard" veterans, casting the ballot of the meeting. Mr. Loughran was called on and re-elected. "For the 31st time, I thank you."

Mrs. Helen Otto of the Sixth ward was recognized by the chair and presented resolutions on the death of Dr. Mary Gay-Day. They will be found printed elsewhere.

Standing Committees

The business of naming various standing committees was next taken up. On motion of Keats Young of Milton, John B. Stierley of Kingston and Robert A. Snyder of Saugerties were elected as members from Ulster county to the senatorial district committee for the 29th senatorial district.

On motion of George W. Erts of Denning, Judge G. D. R. Hasbrouck and Surrogate George F. Kaufman were elected members from Ulster county to the senatorial district committee for the 29th senatorial district.

Will Develop the Extensive Beds of Humus at New Paltz

Announcement that plans are progressing to develop the extensive beds of humus in the town of New Paltz and seek a widespread market for the product arouses speculation as to whether another "natural product" of Ulster county is not destined to play an important part in the welfare of its people, to some extent at least as did the great tanning, blue-stone and cement industries.

It is announced that John Messmer and son, said to be the owners of the largest humus beds in the state of New York and who have long been interested in the development of humus as a commercial proposition, have entered into a contract with William C. DeWitt and Benjamin J. DeWitt of Newburgh, where the DeWitts will excavate the humus from the said Messmer beds and will sell it commercially through out the state of New York and the northern counties of the state of New Jersey.

Will Furnish Labor

It is expected that under the contract, dated October 1, 1935, entered into by Messmers with the DeWitts, that the humus beds will prove a valuable acquisition to the town of New Paltz in the labor that will be brought in, the handling of humus for export, the trucking from point to point and otherwise in the commercial development of the raw humus into the finished product for placing in department stores, coal of fices, hardware stores, and it is hoped, by further development to place it in cans and containers suitable for general handling in drug stores and through other retail means of distribution.

The contract is the beginning of a period of work in the beds, which has long been anticipated. The contract is subject to restoration in the event the F.W.A., W.P.A. or any other governmental agency of the United States or the state of New York, acquires title to the humus beds.

The humus, as before stated, is in three columns, 100 feet high, and is the largest humus bed in the world. It is estimated that the humus beds will prove a valuable acquisition to the town of New Paltz in the labor that will be brought in, the handling of humus for export, the trucking from point to point and otherwise in the commercial development of the raw humus into the finished product for placing in department stores, coal of fices, hardware stores, and it is hoped, by further development to place it in cans and containers suitable for general handling in drug stores and through other retail means of distribution.

Emperor Selassie Files Protest With League of Nations

Geneva, Oct. 2 (AP)—The cabled protest of Emperor Haile Selassie against the alleged invasion of Ethiopia by Italian troops was announced today by the League of Nations. The text follows:

"We inform you for communication to the council and the states members that Italian troops have violated the Ethiopian frontier in the region south of Mount Mussa Ali, in the Province of Aussa, between that mountain and the frontier of Ethiopia and French Somaliland and have established themselves in Ethiopian territory preparing a base for extensive attack. The proximity to the sea of this region and its easy access through the territory of French Somaliland make it possible with the council either to send observers or to obtain confirmation of this violation of Ethiopian territory through the government of French Somaliland. The text was signed 'Selassie.'"

Reports Invasion

Addis Ababa, Oct. 2 (AP)—Emperor Haile Selassie today protested to the League of Nations against an alleged invasion of Ethiopia by Italian forces.

The note of protest, prepared by his advisers—including Everett Colson, American—resulted from government reports through French sources that the Italians had penetrated from Eritrea into a triangular portion of Ethiopia at Mount Mussa Ali.

The Italians were said to have moved in about 50,000 native Eritrean troops and fleets of motor trucks, tanks and airplanes.

There are no Ethiopian troops in the desolate region and, consequently, it was said, the Italians had been able to construct airdromes, munitions depots and barracks without opposition.

The Italian government at Rome denied officially that its forces had entered Ethiopia, stating "There has been no movement" of troops.

The emperor's note read: "We call to the attention of the League of Nations that Italy has prepared a base of attack of great size in the region south of Mount Mussa Ali. The nearness of this region to the sea and its access through Somaliland would allow the council (of the League) either to send observers or to obtain confirmation from the French government in Somaliland that this is a violation of Ethiopian territory."

In anticipation of the possibility of air raids, the emperor ordered all hotels in Addis Ababa to construct bomb-proof shelters.

Major Issues of Campaign

New York, Oct. 2 (AP)—The major issues of the New York state Assembly campaign were described today by Assemblyman Herbert Brownell, Jr., New York Republican, as crime, the state budget and the methods of borrowing to meet state obligations. Concerning the crime question, Brownell said last night in the first of a series of broadcasts sponsored by the GOP state committee that the present Democratic administration had violated its platform pledge in failing to secure passage of Attorney General John J. Bennett's anti-crime bills.

"Rogues Gallery"

Washington, Oct. 2 (AP)—A "Rogues Gallery" of 20,000 names has been compiled by the securities and exchange commission to aid it in weeding out fake stock salesmen and promoters. The list is dotted with names of "get-rich-quick" promoters accused of preying upon the investing public back in the boom days with promises of wealth from worthless securities. David Saxe, director of the trading and exchange division, said today the list was proving invaluable in the examination of applications for registration from over the counter security dealers.

Double Taxation to End

Paris, Oct. 2 (AP)—A new treaty ending double taxation of American firms in France was made effective January 1, 1936, by promulgation in the official journal today. The treaty was ratified April 4. American business firms were relieved of a $120,000,000 taxation threat.

Il Duce Tells Fervent Fascists Solemn Hour To Break In History

"Not Only Our Army Marches Toward Its Goal, But 44 Million Italians are Marching With the Army."

ROARING SALUTE

All Over Nation Men, Women and Children Leave Tasks and Play To Hear Pronouncement.

Rome, Oct. 2 (AP)—Premier Mussolini today told his millions of fervent followers that "a solemn hour is about to break in history."

He made his declaration to the multitudes of Italians assembled in all their cities and villages—rank upon rank—around loud speakers which conveyed their leader's words to the expectant throngs.

(A few hours before Il Duce began his speech, Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia protested to the League of Nations that Italian troops already had crossed his frontier.)

Virtually the entire population of Italy had gathered in a general mobilization at the call of Mussolini to hear their leader's words.

Although the call had been expected for some time, it was dashed out today only three hours before Mussolini began speaking.

"Black shirt men and women of Italy," said Mussolini, "I speak to 20,000,000 men and women."

(In Addis Ababa high authorities said tonight that Emperor Haile Selassie will proclaim his general proclamation of Ethiopian forces at 9 a. m. (1 a. m. eastern standard time) tomorrow.)

Speaks From Palace

Il Duce appeared on the balcony of Venezia Palace at 6:35 p. m. (12:35 p. m., Eastern Standard time).

For several minutes before and after his appearance, the crowd roared in salute of Il Duce. The swelling chorus of voices drowned out all other sounds.

These massed voices blared through the loud speakers in the 7,329 communities of Italy where loyal Fascists gathered.

Their own voices answered the cue from Rome.

Then Il Duce declared:

"Not only our army marches toward its goal, but 44,000,000 Italians are marching with the army."

He said Italy would respond to "war with war."

He declared he did not believe that "the real Fascist associate themselves with sanctions against Italy."

At the signal for the test of mobilization strength, the Fascists were required to leave their work, return to their homes, don the blackshirt uniforms, and fall in at prearranged points.

Each of the 20,000,000 was informed in advance as to what square he should go.

The announcement by Starace was made over the Rome radio at 3.20 p. m., just ten minutes before the signal for general mobilization was to be given.

He gave the population two hours to reach their places where they were to hear Il Duce speak to them.

Bands suddenly appeared in the streets playing "Gloria," the Fascist national anthem, and crowds going to their places of assembly took up the tune.

Flags were unfurled from buildings throughout the country. Other banners appeared in the streets waved by women at their departing menfolk.

Nation-wide Hook-up

During a two-hour interval the Fascist party arranged for a nationwide radio hook-up covering 7,329 towns and villages.

The call for a national hook-up was given by Il Duce. He had been in the air for some time, but even today the government again decided it would be for today. It was said when the signal was made, "It is history."

Discussion of the call in the afternoon brought the decision for the mobilization. It has always been intended that the signal should anticipate the people and their alertness.

October Trial Term Of Supreme Court

The October trial term of supreme court will be convened at the court house Monday with Justice Harry E. Schrick presiding. On the preferred calendar for the term have been added five additional cases and 65 cases have been added to the general calendar.

Court will be convened at 11 o'clock next Monday for the purpose of calling the jury roll and at 2 o'clock a day calendar will be made up. Each day thereafter at 10 o'clock a day calendar will be made up.

Elting Is Again Named Chairman

county of the judicial committee for the third judicial district. For members of the congressional district committee for the 27th congressional district, Mr. Shirley nominated J. Charles Snyder and Harry T. Williams and they were declared elected.

Member State Committee

The chairman announced that it was his sad duty to recommend the election of a member of the state committee to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Dr. Mary Gage-Day. On motion of J. Stuart Williams, Mrs. Laura Rose, of the Eleventh ward, Kingston, was named to fill the position.

On motion of John B. Sterley, Articles VI and X of the rules of the county committee were amended to comply with the recent act of the legislature providing that only enrolled voters may vote at party caucuses.

The voters of the Seventh district of Wawarsing having failed to elect committeemen on primary day to represent that district, on motion, the county committee named such committeemen as follows: Roland Bunting of Montella, Raymond Sheeley of Lackawack.

State Chairman Presented

At the conclusion of the business of the evening, Chairman Elting announced that they were fortunate in having with them that evening a distinguished member of the Republican party who had been devoting his time, traveling the length and breadth of New York state, in impressing upon the voters the serious importance of the election this fall and urging them on to victory. He then presented Republican State Chairman Melvin C. Eaton of Norwich.

Mr. Eaton's Address

Mr. Eaton greeted his hearers with the statement that he "was a business man—not a politician, nor an orator." For these reasons, he said, and further, because during his talk he would make certain accusations, he planned to read a prepared address. He prefaced his address with some comment on national finances and the fact that during the past two years the national debt had increased by seven and a half billion dollars—or at the rate of a million dollars an hour. He said that the average person could not begin to comprehend the meaning of this stupendous debt, one that would have to be paid by future generations.

The state chairman emphasized the extreme importance of the election this year, urging every citizen to register and cast his vote, adding that if the present administration is continued "we are liable not to have any United States; we will be another Russia."

Mr. Eaton predicted that the Republicans would have a minimum of at least 80 seats in the next state assembly. He said that he had visited 50 out of the 62 counties in the state so far and that he was finding a tremendous change of sentiment among the voters.

Following these introductory remarks Mr. Eaton continued with his address of the evening, saying:

Permit me to express my very sincere appreciation for your kindness in inviting me to address you here tonight. I welcome this opportunity of appearing before you, because it makes it possible for me to express by gratitude for the splendid work which the Republican organization of Ulster county has so consistently performed these many years.

It is not surprising to me that this county is so unflinching, unwavering and unswerving in its devotion to Republicanism. It is not surprising that the Republican organization of the county functions so efficiently the whole year around. I say this because I know that your leader, the Honorable Philip Elting, is one of the great Republican County Chairmen of the state, as well as being the oldest member in point of service on the Republican State Committee.

Many of you will recall that Ulster county was strongly Democratic when Philip Elting took over the chairmanship of the county committee. All of you here know that, as a result of his unending work in behalf of the party, he was able to turn the county into the Republican column. He was not dismayed at the Democratic strength in Ulster when he was elected county chairman more than 20 years ago. Instead, he then prevailed Democratic majorities represented a definite challenge to his courage, tenacity and ability. Thus it was that after a long hard fight, Mr. Elting was able to bring an end to Democratic majorities in the county, and to turn the county into the rock-ribbed Republican stronghold it is today.

The efforts of Mr. Elting in turning this county into the Republican column should be an inspiration to Republican county leaders who control the destinies of the Republican party in strong Democratic counties in this state. A defeatist attitude never won a victory, nor has it ever brought about a change in the political complexion of a county. Work, tenacity, and a never-say-die spirit on the other hand, will accomplish the seemingly impossible. To these Republican leaders in strong Democratic counties, I point to the record made in Ulster county by Philip Elting, and say: Go there and do likewise.

Ulster county not only gave to the Republican party, Philip Elting, but it contributed a highly qualified legislator, as General George H. Schrick, who served three terms as speaker of the Assembly, former state senator, Charles H. Walton, Congressmen Frank J. DeFazio and John N. Condit, former supreme court judge, Gilbert D. B. B. B.

brock and A. T. Clearwater; and more recently Assemblyman J. Edward Conway. So it is that I say the people of Ulster county are to be congratulated upon the high type men who lead the party in the county, and the fine legislators who have represented and now represent the taxpayers in Congress, in the State Senate and in the Assembly.

As to Assemblyman Conway, I know it is not necessary for me to call your attention to the importance of his re-election to the Assembly on November 5. We need him in the Assembly, not only to aid us in giving a majority to our party, but because of his fine service to the people of the state and his sincere and conscientious representation of the residents of this district.

Before proceeding further with my remarks, let me diverge for a moment in order to say a word about the crime conference now being held in Albany at the call of Governor Lehman.

The O'Connell Machine

You may recall that within the last seven weeks I have directed many statements at the governor requesting that he order an investigation into reported tie-ups between the O'Connell Democratic machine in Albany county and the underworld. I have repeatedly pointed out that definite allegations about these tie-ups frequently have been made, and that there was and is as much, if not more reason, to investigate crime and racketeering in Albany county as there was to investigate organized crime and racketeering in New York county, which probe was authorized by the governor some months ago.

Now the governor has not seen fit to take cognizance of my suggestions to Lexow the Albany county O'Connell machine, and I am wondering if his aloofness is caused by the political strength in the state of the Brothers O'Connell? There is a much greater political headache attendant upon investigating the Albany county Democratic machine, than there is in making a similar probe in New York county, where Tammany Hall is in the political dog house of the Roosevelt-Farley administration.

Being of an inquisitive turn of mind, I am also wondering if the subject of fraudulent voting will have a place in the Crime Conference program, in that this illegal balloting is only possible by contacts, "understandings" and alliances between the underworld and certain Democratic political organizations in the larger cities?

Anyone at all familiar with the fraudulent voting that goes on in Greater New York is aware that Democratic leaders there make no bones about the widespread use of election "floaters" in their political scheme of things. In certain Harlem districts Democratic floaters are brought to the polling places in buses, and journey from election district to election district, dutifully casting votes as directed by Tammany leaders. However, even with this sort of thing representing an old Tammany custom in New York city, Albany County O'Connells clearly take the palm for what we shall charitably call, "Election Interests."

I say this for the following reasons: The vote in Albany county at the election of 1932, represented 61 per cent of the population, as against a vote in New York city of 34 per cent of the population, and an average vote throughout the country of 33 per cent of the population. Now, Mayor Thacher, of Albany, may be tempted to point to this statement as "another indication of how seriously the electorate of Albany regards its suffrage." However, before he gets too enthusiastic, let him examine some statistics prepared by the Albany County Republican Committee. They are quite interesting, and follow:

According to careful estimates made by both the Albany County Republican Committee and taxpayer groups, between 12,000 and 15,000 illegal votes are cast in Albany county each year by the Democratic machine. For example, and I am merely taking a few of the many figures submitted to me by Republicans of Albany county:

Last year a total of 65 persons registered from 30 Donnan avenue, in the Third Ward, Albany, listed as "a vacant store." Thirty-two persons registered from 82 Herkimer street, Albany, a six-room house. Again, Albany County Republican headquarters last year sent court orders to persons registered from another house in Albany and 58 of these orders were returned bearing the notation, "unknown."

Illegal voting not only deserves a very definite place in the crime picture, but it works against the honest expression of the will of the people in choosing candidates and administrations to manage their affairs.

Finally, underworld favors around election time must always be repaid by Democratic political bosses who receive these favors, and when an administration controls the police department and the prosecutor's office, as does the O'Connell machine in Albany county, the people always suffer and good government becomes a memory, while racketeering flourishes.

I reiterate the hope that the subject of illegal voting and political contacts with racketeers by Democratic organizations in the larger cities, will be given attention at the present crime conference. And let us further hope that the governor will eventually find the political courage to direct an investigation of the activities of the Democratic machine in Albany county, and will appoint a Republican lawyer from that city to make a fearless investigation into prevailing conditions. However, I record my pessimism of the fulfillment of my wishes, but recall that hope springs eternal.

The New Deal Machine

My friends, this year we are preparing our campaign to reorganize the Assembly on both state and national issues because the two are completely interlocked. If it were that the New Deal machine did not dominate the government and the Democratic-controlled Legislature, it would then be possible to fight out the Assembly battle on State issues alone. For so in the darkness and the Democratic machine in Albany county acting as a guiding hand for the Rooseveltian theories and policies, we must attack the roots of the Federal maladministration as well as the leafy foliage that makes the New Deal tree look uselessly pretty, even though the tree be suffering from the blight of bureaucracy.

The President is aware that the people of the country are becoming thoroughly fed up with his ever-shifting policies. His knowledge of this is what has led him to make his present stupping tour of the country. He is striving to recover a great deal of lost ground through his usual methods, namely, the utterance of words and the placing of emphasis on his favorite phrases, "human rights," and through the use of the publicity methods of the circus.

The words "human rights," to the President and Mr. Farley, seem to mean the payment of temporary bounties to large groups of individuals for obviously political purposes, and regardless of the effect of these bounties and enabling policies on the future fortunes of the groups in question.

It is true that many farmers in the west and middle west who have enjoyed Roosevelt bequests, approve the money paid them for ploughing crops under and slaughtering hogs and cattle, even though realizing the Federal Santa Claus will eventually be forced to halt his subsidies, and similarly realizing that their domestic and foreign markets are slowly passing from their hands. Short-sightedness features much of the activities of the AAA, political expediency taking precedence over a long-range planning program, just as this political expediency clusters up the efforts of virtually all of the New Deal agencies.

It is my reaction that the people of this country are just as much fed up with "the more abundant life" promise of Mr. Roosevelt, as they are with his other two tag lines, "social justice" and "social security." Roosevelt manufactured headlines promising "jobs for all" do not, and have not, made jobs for virtually anyone. In fact, statistics show that there are a million more people unemployed today than were unemployed in June, 1933. And, any thinking man or woman must honestly concede that the Roosevelt re-employment program has been a truly magnificent failure.

Billions appropriated by Congress for re-employment have been spent, but more jobs have not materialized. Additional billions await further spending while cabinet members and the heads of various New Deal agencies jockey for position in the political sun. Red tape has so enmeshed Washington, as to have engulfed the Federal Gulliver in a chain of shining ribbon. And the PWA and the Works Progress Administration have failed to develop programs of useful public works, but instead have drawn up programs which will might have been conceived by characters in Walt Disney's "Silly Symphonies." If the Washington method of doing things spreads throughout the country, we will soon have a nation engrossed in the all together delightful business of cutting up paper dolls.

If we stop to analyze Roosevelt policies and his penchant for changing his position with almost every edition of the newspapers of the country, we arrive at the conclusion like the efforts of an over-excited radio announcer who is unable to set forth whether the principals in any given ring combat are "down or up." Mr. Roosevelt swings left, then right; radical, then conservative; he blows hot and cold, and he pledges himself to a given course of action one day, and comes out against it the next day.

This sort of vacillation is what has retarded recovery in this country. It all represents a type of glorified guessing game. Finally, if the people were sure of Mr. Roosevelt, if business and labor were sure what his next move would be, and if the banks had confidence in his ability to follow a given line of thought or action for any definite period, re-employment would gain almost over night and business would no longer be afraid to expand or to step up production.

Consumer Buying Power

It is interesting to note that while Mr. Roosevelt garily continues his experimentation, consumer buying power is taking heavy punishment. In this connection, the thing that is puzzling extension economists at Iowa State College is not how long farm prices will continue to go up, but how long will consumer buying power continue to hold up.

If we examine prevailing prices of foodstuffs we find that retail prices for foodstuffs for the two weeks ended August 27, 1935, were 14.9 per cent higher than the two weeks ended August 23, 1933. The price of the cereal crop is 8.3 per cent higher than two years ago. White bread is 8 per cent higher; corn meal, 36.8 per cent; rice, 29.2 per cent, and rolled oats, 20.3 per cent higher than two years ago. Meats are 32 per cent higher than in August, 1933. Bacon is 94.9 per cent higher; ham, 53.3 per cent; pork chops, 56.3 per cent and lard, 122.4 per cent. As against the big increase in pork, due to the hog slaughter program, sirloin steak, not a poor man's food to the extent pork chops fill that bill, has increased only 26 per cent.

As I said before, my friends, the linking of the New Deal with the Democratic administration of this state, and the Democratic controlled Legislature, is inseparable. Administrative experimentation has come into the state through Roosevelt domination, and the taxpayers of our sixty-two counties suffer in consequence.

As to issues directly applicable to the state, we will discuss in this campaign the state deficit; the unbalanced budget, the "ripper" bills aimed at town and county government; unnumbered "strike" bills; measures aimed at patronage for the Democratic party; higher gasoline taxes; reckless spending; failure of passage of the anti-crime program of the Democratic attorney-general; failure to investigate and reorganize the Public Service Commission; the elimination of non-partisan control of the Council of Agriculture and Markets; reduction in appropriations for free milk for needy children and mothers; the "dumpling" from other states; failure to embark upon a long range re-employment program; a Democratic

SUPREME COURT GETS AAA CASE

The Roosevelt administration's agricultural program is scheduled to receive speedy consideration by the Supreme Court when that body meets Oct. 7. Above is shown the court's chief justice, Charles Evans Hughes, and, below, a western wheat field. attempt to gerrymander the state in the guise of an illegal reapportionment bill, Democratic efforts to tax the refining of crude oil and petroleum; the Democratic passage of a baby NRA act, designed to uphold the now discredited Federal NRA legislation; the consistent imposition of higher taxes, and the passage of restrictive measures which dealt additional blows at business in the state, causing more and more manufacturers to move from New York to adjacent states; the failure of the Democrats to pass the Republican bill for an 8-hour day for employees of state institutions, inadequate flood relief, and scores of other Democratic measures which, we hold, were not for or in the best interests of the people.

My friends, my speaking time is drawing to a close. I conclude my remarks with reiterated expressions of thanks to you for your invitation to address you here tonight, and my further thanks for all you have done for the Republican party in the past, and for all you will do for the party in the present campaign and in the future.

Address by Judge Staley

Judge Staley gave an inspiring talk that was interrupted with frequent outbursts of applause. He said that it was a long time since he had stood upon the platform to make a purely political speech. He added that it was very pleasing to meet such a fine gathering of Republicans, but reminded his hearers that the most important time for Republicans to "get together" was on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November.

The speaker said that it had not been uncommon in times past to hear about great crises at election time, but emphasized the statement that such was without question a fact this year. He found that there was a determined feeling in the minds of people generally that present conditions must be brought to a close and that many were looking forward to 1936 to accomplish that end. He declared that this was not a purely partisan feeling, but that the people of America had decided that they were not going to be sold out of their rights and liberties through the carrying out of socialistic propaganda—that the people are beginning to realize that these theories will not work and that they are going to have to pay the price.

"Never in the history of our country," said Judge Staley, "have American rights and liberties been so jeopardized, with taxes piling up on all sides." The speaker said that there was but one way to stop all this, but one group to turn to—the Republican party—but the start must be made now to win the great battle in 1936.

Speaking of the judicial situation, Judge Staley said that he was happy to have associated with him as a candidate for the Supreme Court bench, such a fine character and outstanding citizen and lawyer as Harry H. Flemming of Kingston. Of the importance of the office he said, "Unless the courts are protected in their administering of fair and square justice there is no protection for the people in any other place."

Judge Staley said that 14 years ago, when first a candidate for the judgeship, he made a pledge that if elected he would act as became a judge. "I have been true, according to my conscience, in that pledge and promise," said the judge, and "I could not promise more, I would not promise less."

Flemming Introduced

Harry H. Flemming, also a candidate for the Supreme Court, was presented and spoke briefly but effectively. He said that he considered it a high honor to be named with

Town of Lloyd Chooses Its Party Candidates

Highland, Oct. 1.—An enthusiastic Republican caucus was held Monday night in Foster's hall when John F. Wadlin received the nomination for supervisor for the town of Lloyd. His nomination was made by Under Sheriff J. W. Feeter. Lorin E. Callahan was again nominated for town clerk, an office he has held for many years; Richard Burton was again given the nomination for collector; Max Gruener for town superintendent of highways. In this office Ralph Lyons was also a candidate and the vote was 123 to 88. Fred Decker was the choice for assessor for the four year term and George C. Hudson for the two year term. The two to be placed on the town board as justices of peace brought out four candidates, Parker Decker, Charles Schmidt, Walter R. Seaman and J. Wells Weaver. The first vote eliminated Schmidt. Decker received 85 votes, Seamas 51, Weaver 42 and Schmidt 36. The second vote gave Decker 100, Seamas 57, Weaver 43. On the last ballot Decker had 118 and Seamas 60, thus giving Decker the nomination. For the second man on the ticket Seaman received 91, Weaver 47, Charles Schmidt 43. Mrs. Harry B. Cotant was given the nomination as school director. More than 200 persons were present and voting.

Democratic Caucus

The nominees in the Democratic caucus also held in the town hall where there were 93 attending, were: Supervisor, Thomas Shay; town clerk, Lorin E. Callahan; collector, George Canfield; superintendent of highways, James Donovan; assessor four year term, William Ambrose; assessor two year term, Hudson Covert; justices of the peace, Earl Kisor, Christopher Dohrman; school director, J. D. Lester committee on vacancies, Nathan D. Williams, Lawrence P. Gaffney, Thomas Cawley. Solomon G. Carpenter acted as chairman and John J. Gaffney, clerk.

Philip T. Schantz was chairman of the Republican caucus and Ledyard Ball, clerk. The inspectors were Frank Marx, William Maynard, Charles Busick tellers, Clarence Tompkins, Charles L. DuBois, Arthur B. Merritt.

Our Growing Population

The following births have been reported to the Board of Health: Mr. and Mrs. Andrew J. Hrisiak of 715 Abel street, a son, Thomas Andrew, at Kingston Hospital. Mr. and Mrs. Irwin L. Jennings of 17 Johnston avenue, a son, Kenneth Irwin, at Kingston Hospital. Mr. and Mrs. Richard Carey of 45 Sycamore street, a son, Robert Francis.

Common Council in Brief Session Here Approved Bond Sale

City Treasurer Everett Seils at Record Price $115,000 in Debt Equalization Bonds—Little Baby Hit in Head With Baseball and Mother Seeks Damages—Other Matters.

Under the administration of Mayor C. J. Heiseleman the credit of the city of Kingston has been such that in the bond sales held during the past two years a record price in the financial history of the city was obtained for the city's bonds. That fact was brought to the attention of the Common Council at its regular monthly meeting Tuesday evening when City Treasurer C. Ray Everett submitted a report on the sale of the $115,000 in debt equalization bonds.

The city treasurer reported that 22 bids had been received and that the low bidder was from the Webster Kennedy Company whose bid was an interest rate of 2.25 per cent and a premium of $379.50. The highest bid received was the purchase of the bonds at par with an interest rate of 2.75 per cent.

The Common Council unanimously confirmed the sale of the bond issue to the Webster Kennedy Company. The sale of the equalization bonds on Monday was the final step taken in Mayor Heiseleman's plan to reduce the city tax rate approximately $5 a thousand next year. When he assumed office in 1934 it was to find that the preceding administration had issued bonds which would fall due within the next three years instead of spreading the payment of the bonds out over a term of years. This condition was remedied by the adoption of the plan of Mayor Heiseleman in issuing debt equalization bonds, spreading the payment over a term of years and thus relieving the taxpayer of an unnecessary burden during the depression years.

Little Baby Hit
Mrs. Agnes Hill sent in a communication to the council stating that on September 5 of this year her little girl, Mary Ann, aged 1½ years, was struck in the head by a baseball near the entrance to the park on Hunter street, and stating that she believed the city should pay any claim as may arise as the result of the injuries to the baby girl. The communication was referred to the auditing committee and corporation counsel.

Forst Reappointed
Mayor Heiseleman filed with the council the reappointment of Henry Forst as a member of the Board of Public Works.

Seek Larger Quarters
At the September meeting of the council, Mr. Carey, who is in charge of the National Reemployment Service offices on the third floor of the city hall, requested the council to furnish him with larger quarters centrally located.

Last night communications were read from the local painters' union and the Central Trade & Labor Council in which it was stated that the present quarters of the NRS on the third floor of the city hall were too small and that the NRS should be furnished with larger quarters. The two communications were referred to the building committee.

No Money to Repair
Alderman Epstein has introduced a resolution calling for repairs being made to the old Weber engine house on Mill street. The resolution had been referred to the fire board who reported back to the council last night that it had no funds with which to make the repairs.

To Meet November 12
The council also adopted a resolution that the November meeting be held on November 12, at 7:30 o'clock.

Motions Introduced
The following resolutions were introduced and referred to the proper city boards and departments:
By Alderman Leary—that the following items, already reported, be considered a PWA project: Two trees removed from Connelly property, 401 Delaware avenue; one tree from Abernathy property, 622 Delaware avenue; two large trees from Ringwald property, 620 Delaware avenue; one tree removed from 495 Delaware avenue; that curb be replaced at Nugent property, corner Delaware avenue and Jarrold street; that remains of old asphalt plant on Gross street, near Hasbrouck Park be dismantled and removed; that board of public works have Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corporation remove light on Hasbrouck avenue from pole 1952 to pole 1959; that light be installed at rock cut on Second avenue, below property numbered 231.

Alderman Ashby—that incandescent light be installed on pole 1120 on Willow street.
Alderman Connelly—that trees in the vicinity of street lights on Orchard street be trimmed so as to permit full utilization of candlepower of street lights; that brush and weeds be trimmed along sidewalk on Orchard street; that large holes on roadway of Smith street and of High street be filled. Both streets are in a deplorable condition and should receive immediate attention; that brush and weeds be cut on Anderson street and Mary's avenue.
Alderman Kelle—that Board of Public Works topdress Abbey street at this street is in very poor condition. This could be done as a PWA project. The extending of this street would stimulate building in the section as many people have been turning the unpaved end of the street.

Bills were read and audited and the council then adjourned on motion to meet in regular session on November 12.

Warrior's Notification
Dundee, Oct. 2 (AP)—A large number of warriors were born between 1915 and 1917 were notified today to report for military service. There was no official comment on the call and the war ministry would not say whether these orders were going to all men in that age group.

G. Clark Van Deusen Died at Albany Home

Former Kingston Resident Was Manager of the Albany District of Standard Oil Company Until Ill Health Forced His Retirement in 1929—Funeral Here Thursday.

G. Clark Van Deusen, manager of the Albany district of the Standard Oil Company until ill health forced him to resign his position in 1929, died on Monday at his home in Albany. The body will be brought to Kingston and funeral services held Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock from the home of his sister, Mrs. Augusta V. D. Hutton, 18 West Chestnut street.

Mr. Van Deusen was born in Kingston in 1869, the son of George N. and Katherine E. Van Deusen. His father was a member of the well-known wholesale and retail drug firm of Van Deusen Brothers of this city, and the son early became associated with the firm, remaining with it until 1896, when he left Kingston to enter the employ of the Standard Oil Company as assistant manager at Philadelphia, Pa.

Later he was made manager of the Albany district of the Standard Oil Company of New York, holding that position until ill health forced him to resign in 1929. Since then he had led a retired life. His business career was marked by a high order of administrative talent and an unflagging devotion to the duties of his position. His sterling character and broad cultural attainments were combined with a humane benevolence and an active generosity.

Mr. Van Deusen is survived by three sisters, Mrs. Augusta V. D. Hutton of West Chestnut street, and Mrs. Emma V. D. Fuller and Mrs. Katherine V. D. Kemble, both of Battle Creek, Mich.

Legion Membership Drive Starts Oct. 8

The membership drive of Kingston Post, No. 150, American Legion, will start on October 8. Lester Barth is the chairman.

Commander Eugene A. Freer is optimistic and looks for the largest membership since 1928, which set a record. Mayor C. J. Heiseleman being at that time commander of the post.

DISPUTE OVER ESTATE OF WILLYS IS FILED

New York, Oct. 2 (AP)—A dispute over part of the estimated $5,000,000 estate left by John N. Willys, automobile magnate, has begun in Bronx Surrogate's Court, where his daughter, Mrs. Virginia Willys DeLanda, petitioned for a temporary administrator.

The petition, filed yesterday, is aimed at Willys's second wife, Mrs. Florence Dolan Willys, whom he married less than a year ago in Palm Beach on the day he and Mrs. DeLanda's mother were divorced.

Only that part of the estate in New York, estimated to amount to a million dollars, is affected. Mrs. DeLanda was named in the will to receive 25 per cent of the estate. His second wife received 65 per cent.

The petition charged that Mrs. Willys "will resort to any and all means to destroy evidence and divert assets belonging to the said estate unless a temporary administrator is appointed."

The auto manufacturer's daughter charged that his office in New York was riddled of documents and records.

Baltimore, Oct. 2 (AP)—The death toll in a premature explosion of powder at a stone quarry here rose to four today. Daniel A. Leonard, 64-year-old contractor, who was working on the new 12th Street power, died in a hospital without regaining consciousness. The blast occurred yesterday.

"Kingston's Biggest Store" One of Most Modern Concerns

The Rose & Gorman department store, advertised and generally known as "Kingston's Biggest Store," deserves also to be known as one of this city's most modern business houses.

Although the store has always been among the first to recognize the most modern arrangements in merchandising, display of goods, etc., that go to make up up-to-date establishments, several recent innovations have added greatly toward making it the last word in modernism.

The girls in the various departments now dress uniformly in black dresses with white neckwear, presenting a neat and attractive appearance as they greet their customers. This new custom of wearing uniforms has been most favorably commented upon by patrons of the big store who have visited it since Monday, when the policy went into effect.

A new noiseless cash system, eliminating the cables and noises caused by carriers conveying money to and from the cashier's office, is another feature recently adopted by the store to make it more pleasant for its customers and to give them better service.

The R. & G. store considers its employees, too, and in its efforts to modernize the firm in every respect has installed an individual locker for every clerk. These lockers are of steel, painted brown, and show off well in the neat looking locker room. The lunch room for employees is another attractive part of the establishment, with its green and white color scheme and kitchen facilities for hot meals.

This month the big store will celebrate its 23rd anniversary since it was taken from the late Herbert Carl. A big sale will be held to properly commemorate the event and give customers a chance to obtain what they may wish to buy at rock bottom prices.

Staley Named by Independent Party

Supreme Court Justice Ellis J. Staley was named a candidate for the Supreme Court bench by the Independent Citizens' Party yesterday in a petition filed with Secretary of State Flynn.

The petition, which contains 6,298 signatures, or more than twice the number required by law, was filed less than 24 hours after the Albany jurist had been renominated for a second term by the Republican judicial convention of the Third District.

It was the earliest possible moment for filing as yesterday was the first day on which independent nominating petitions could be legally received.

There was some strategy behind the filing of the petition at 9 a. m. The first one to file wins the right to go on the slate as the candidate of the Independent Citizens' Party. This designation means several thousand votes in Cohoes, where the Independent Citizens' Party is in control of the municipal government under a fusion agreement of more than two years ago. The Independent Citizens' Party, which is headed by Judge Walter Wertine, Jr., is to wage a determined campaign this year to re-elect Mayor John J. Morrissey—a fact which no doubt means a substantial net gain in votes for Justice Staley, votes that otherwise might be in jeopardy.

The petition was filed by Edward G. Dillon of Watervliet.

Three Men Detained In Glens Falls Killing

Glens Falls, N. Y., Oct. 2 (AP)—Lieutenant Merritt E. Doeschler of the state police said today that three men had been detained for questioning in connection with the murder on September 22 of M. Earl Davidson, 28-year-old member of a prominent Glens Falls family.

No charges have been placed against any of the men, Lieutenant Doeschler said. They were detained last night.

Meanwhile state troopers reported they had not found the woman who police believe was with Davidson on the night of the crime. She is believed to have owned the lipstick and hairpins found in Davidson's car. His body, a bullet in the heart, was found in a thicket near the car.

Although the victim's family attribute his slaying to robbery, police ascribed the crime to jealousy.

The first break in the case came Monday when Glens Falls police found a .32 calibre pistol which they believe might have been used to kill Davidson. The weapon was found in the home of a Glens Falls man.

The three men were detained after Captain William A. Jones of New York city, a ballistics expert, examined the weapon and made his report.

Meeting at Modern Hall Thursday Night

A mass meeting will be held at Modern Hall, 21 Grand street, Thursday evening, October 2, at 8:30 o'clock, at which time problems of vital interest to the petroleum industry and the motoring public will be discussed.

These problems will be before the next state legislature and affect the business and pocketbooks of many people.

Local and state speakers are scheduled to address the meeting including Senator Wilts and Assemblyman Conway.

The public interested is invited to attend.

Crempas Out on Bail To Attend Funeral of Slain Wife, Mother

Scotch Plains, N. J., Oct. 2 (AP)—Long lines of cars formed around John Crempas's little farm house today for the funeral of Crempas's wife, Sophie, slain in a battle with deputy sheriffs.

Police of Plainfield, where the funeral was to be held, assigned a special detail to handle the traffic.

Crempas and his son, John, Jr., 17, returned to their home last night, free under bail totalling $5,000 after nearly a week in police custody. The two are charged with contempt of a court order enforcing the Public Service Electric and Gas Company's condemnation of a portion of their farm to make way for a high-tension power line.

Mrs. Crempas was fatally wounded last Thursday when the deputies, seven in number, besieged the farm in an effort to serve the contempt citation. Tear gas bombs were thrown, then shots fired.

News of his mother's death was kept from young Crempas until last night. The youth was arrested the night before the raid.

When he emerged from jail last night, Leonard Pontus, counsel to the Crempas, hurried him to the hospital where his father has been under guard.

Young Crempas started back as attendants pushed his father forward in a wheel chair. The elder Crempas's left leg, sheathed in bandages, was still stiff from a wound suffered in the raid.

"There was a little shooting, Johnny," Crempas explained.

As the two rode homeward through the rain, Crempas broke the news of his wife's death.

"He's a brave boy," the father said later. "He cried a bit, but he took it like a man."

The elder Crempas, a World War veteran, recounted to his son his version of the battle in which Mrs. Crempas fell with five shotgun slugs in her body.

"If they say it was self defense," he cried, his gaunt face working with emotion. "—But how could I shoot when I was blinded with tear gas. You stay in gas two seconds and see how you can shoot."

Crempas admitted he went into the house and got a shotgun after his wife was wounded but the gun jammed, he said, when he attempted to fire it.

He dropped the gun and raised his hands in surrender, he said, but the shots continued and he fell beside his wife.

ULSTER PARK W. C. T. U. HELD ANNUAL MEETING

The Ulster Park W. C. T. U. held its annual meeting at the home of Mrs. John Lynn in Port Ewen on Wednesday, September 25, at 2:30 p. m. The meeting was in charge of the president, Mrs. Herring, and opened with singing "America the Beautiful." A prayer was read by Mrs. B. T. Van Aken, which also was read at the convention held at Atlantic City. Mrs. Van Aken and her daughter were the only members who attended the convention from the local union. The secretary's and treasurer's reports were given and were accepted. The chairmen of the different departments gave their reports and also were accepted. Minutes of last meeting were read by the secretary and approved. Mrs. Van Aken gave a very fine report of the convention at Atlantic City. It was very interesting and instructive and enjoyed by all the members at the meeting.

The president, Mrs. Herring, then spoke about the alcohol education fund and members were pleased to know that the local quota is nearly complete.

The election of officers was as follows: President, Mrs. Carrie Herring; vice president, Mrs. Gertrude Van Aken; secretary, Mrs. Lillian Cole; treasurer, Mrs. Lizzie Van Aken.

Departments are as follows: Flower mission, Mrs. Eliza Wells; red letter day, Mrs. Lizzie Van Aken; mothers' meeting, Mrs. Anna Wells; press, Mrs. Lillian Cole; citizenship, Mrs. Lillian Cole; temperance publications, Mrs. Lillian Cole; Sunday school, Mrs. Mable Lynn and Mrs. Gertrude Van Aken; Sunday school, Ulster Park, Mrs. Carrie Herring; peace, Mrs. Maria D. E. Page.

Meeting closed by all repeating the Lord's Prayer in unison, after which the hostess served delicious refreshments and all enjoyed a social hour together. There were 12 members and one visitor present.

Petition Dismissed

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 2 (AP)—The petition of a group of taxpayers for the removal of Ward Van De Bogart, trustee in the Pompey Hollow school district, was dismissed today by Dr. Frank P. Graves, state commissioner of education.

Today's Cable Briefs By Associated Press

Brighton, England—The British Labor party backed by an overwhelming majority today its executive committee's policy of urging use of military sanctions, if necessary, to restrain Italy's East African campaign.

Okayama, Japan—The poisoning of over 300 officers and men and a majority of the 39th infantry regiment, two of whom died, caused the abandonment today of the divisional maneuvers in which the regiment was engaged. The poisoning was attributed to the eating of octopus.

Moffat, Scotland—British authorities hunted throughout the island today for the slayer or slayers of the couple whose dismembered bodies were found in a ravine near this village. Police advanced the theory that this was a crime in imitation of the gruesome Brighton trunk murder or of that disclosed by a parcel of legs at the Waterloo railroad station, or possibly even connected with those crimes.

Brest, France—Precautions to keep secret the design and armaments of the new 26,500-ton French warship Dunkerque were imposed today on the launching of the vessel, built to offset Germany's new navy.

Berlin—The body of former President Paul von Hindenburg was transferred today from a side tower of the Tannenberg Memorial in East Prussia to a permanent resting place in the main tower of the great structure erected to commemorate the field marshal's most famous victory. The ceremony was carried out in the presence of Reichsfuehrer Hitler, while the day—von Hindenburg's birth anniversary—was celebrated throughout the nation.

Vienna—The Austrian foreign office today described as a "ridiculous invention" published reports that Franz von Papen, German minister to Austria, had offered Austria a

HABIT

President Winfred G. Leutner of Western Reserve University had a nifty little speech figured out the other morning. He was going to address the Library School at its opening session. And he was going to advise those young people to "establish well-defined techniques," otherwise known as regular habits, so that they could do much of their work mechanically, leaving their minds free to think and philosophize in the higher realms.

The president's mind was evidently in good form. He was philosophizing as he walked up the street to deliver that speech, with his higher mind concentrating on what he was going to say and his lower mind automatically taking him along. He entered the building and looked around for his audience—and it wasn't there! Then he remembered that the Library School had moved to another building a year ago. "I arrived at the old building exactly on time," he explained to his audience when he finally arrived, "but I discover that technique may become too well defined." Quite so. Many of us have noticed our technique making trouble for us like that. The most useful habit in the world will let a fellow down if he trusts it too far. The conscious mind has to keep on the job.

PERSONAL RELIEF.

A big change has come over the spirit of federal relief as the government prepares to step out of the direct dole system and provide only work relief. For a year and a half Uncle Sam has been in close touch with millions of people, through a vast system of contact between "case workers" and assisted families. That whole business is supposed to be unloaded by November 1. Then, at least in theory and method, the government will be only a national employer hiring workers for public jobs.

The social service workers will then be out of work, unless they get industrial or commercial jobs, or the states and cities absorbing the federal charity distribution take them over. Large numbers of "case workers" will still be needed, to see that the "unemployables" are cared for. There are supposed to be one-fifth of all people on relief in this class. Thus "organized charity" will continue on a far bigger scale than was ever known before this depression. And in the famous phrase of John Boyle O'Reilly it will still be "stumped and fed." But apparently there is no other way. Private, individual charity cannot bear the cost of all this human scrap-heap in an industrial civilization.

SPREADING SEASONAL WORK

After 15 years of holding its national annual shows in January, the automobile industry is getting ready for a November show this year. The plan was suggested by the government as a means of stabilizing a seasonal industry. The hope is that the peaks and valleys of automobile employment may be leveled off, auto workers having steady employment more weeks of every year, with a larger annual income.

This is one way of attacking the unemployment problem which some people have begun to regard as permanent and beyond remedy. It would be a confession of defeat if it were the machine which has been invented not only to save labor and costs but to take living standards should be allowed to plunge and large portions of the working population into permanent unemployment. The mechanical problems of making and using machines have been solved and the human adjustment to new developments that machine progress has created has seemed to take jobs away from workers.

SPREADING FIRE

What happened Sunday night when a fire started in a kitchen at the ture has seemed lately to be developing. The war spirit spreads like a forest fire. Half the nations of Europe are now mobilized virtually on a war basis. The biggest threat comes naturally from Germany. Hitler, while waiting his chance to pounce upon Austria when Mussolini's back is turned, and thence perhaps to carve his way eastward through the Balkans turns his attention to Menon on the Baltic Sea. That may be his "Germany Irredenta." Having redeemed it by force, he will have a good start.

Many observers sigh for the good old medieval days when monarchs met and decided their national affairs in personal combat. It would be grand if Mussolini and Selassie fought it out man to man, and then Hitler and the Führer could go ahead and eat each other up.

RAILROAD FREIGHT

Car-loadings, recognized as one of the most dependable business indexes, have been reassuring observers who doubted whether apparent improvement was real. The total volume of railroad freight traffic lately has surpassed all records for four years. Some observers attribute the movement largely to coal carried in unusual volume in anticipation of a general strike in the bituminous fields. That was probably a factor; nevertheless records show that the volume had been increasing steadily through August and early September.

The figures would be still more significant if truck competition were taken into account. There has been a vast increase, for which there are no available figures, in truck hauling of coal and miscellaneous freight formerly carried by the railroads. If the truck loads were added to the volume of business traffic.

That Body of Yours

BY

James W. Barton, M.D.

(Registered in accordance with the Copyright Act.)
PAIN IS NATURE'S SIGNAL.

Physicians these days must be astonished at the increase in the number of new drugs for relieving pain. Pain is not only hard to bear but it is very wearing on mind and body. That there are drugs that can allay pain in emergencies without creating a drug "habit" or causing a great depression of spirits is a great boon to mankind.

However pain is a protest of a nerve or nerves in various parts of the body against something that has gone wrong. Pain is Nature's warning that trouble is present and that this trouble should be looked for at once.

Someone has aptly said that pain is a "signal" to the sufferer and that instead of trying to destroy the signal he should try to find out just what the signal (pain) is trying to point out to him.

Now there are some pains that are readily recognized such as the pain in the right lower part of the abdomen which remains there for some time and which is usually due to appendicitis. Then there is the pain of pleurisy which is made worse by breathing; the pain in the stomach due to indigestion or overeating.

When the cause of the pain is known there is no reason with severe pain why a pain relieving drug should not be used.

However as the great majority of ailments begin with or have pain present at some time, the kind of pain and its exact location is usually studied by the physician before anything is done to relieve the pain. You can readily see that if some drug is given to relieve pain in the head, chest, over the heart, in the stomach or abdomen, in upper or lower back, or elsewhere in the body before the cause of the pain is learned, then the real cause is not likely to be found. This may allow the ailment to progress when it is most important that its progress be stopped.

Now a severe pain may mean a simple ailment, and a slight pain a severe ailment, but the physician must be allowed sufficient time to study the pain before the patient's request for something to relieve the pain may be granted.

The thought then is that the patient should do his best to withstand the pain until the cause of the ailment is found. Hiding or masking the pain by a drug before the cause is located is not good sense.

Chapter 43.

BIG NEWS

JUDITH burst precipitately into Emily's room at seven o'clock on a February morning. Her hair was on end and her dressing gown waved behind her.

"I can't stand it any longer or I'll explode like a steam boiler!" Emily blinked and sat up in sudden alarm. She was accustomed to Judith's effervescence but this was different. This was Venus in eruption. She thought wildly of Frances and Jeffrey, then of Aubrey and Davey.

"Judith, is it—?" Judith made a flying leap and landed in the middle of the great walnut bed.

"I was going to keep it for a surprise, but the pressure's gotten too dangerous. David's coming home!" David. She sat very still for a moment, then she forced herself to whisper:

"When?" "This afternoon. The wire just came. He's landing this morning and flying to Montgomery." She swung her arms wide. "Isn't it the sweetest thing you ever heard of?"

In spite of the turmoil of her thoughts Emily laughed. "It's the grandest thing I ever heard of, Jude, darling, I'm as thrilled for you as you are for yourself."

Judith sat up. "How about being a little thrilled on your own account?"

"Because I don't figure in it." She eyed Judith in sudden terror. "Did you tell him I was here?"

Judith shook her head. "That was another of my surprises."

She sighed with relief. "Thank heaven for that!"

"Why?" "Because I'm going home."

Judith stared at her in consternation. "You're doing nothing of the sort! Why do you think all this was engineered?"

"But don't you see," she spread her hands in a hopeless little gesture, "that being here now would be nothing on earth but throwing myself at him."

"It wouldn't." Judith's voice was rough with conviction. "David knows you too well, even now, ever to think that. And if you think that David would marry anybody on earth from a sense of duty you're all wet. He's too much of a Carroll for that; they don't know the meaning of the word. Now will you stay here and take your chances, or will you run like a scared rabbit?"

Emily's eyes were on the coverlet. "I'll stay."

Judith swung both arms about her neck. "I knew you would! Now hurry and get dressed; we've got things to do."

MERCIFULLY, the plane was on time, or Judith would have demolished the entire airport. She pushed past a uniformed official, was snatched by a greasy mechanic from a horrible dolt in the propeller and flung herself upon the first male passenger who descended, knowing instinctively that David would be the first man to alight.

In the car David found the tonneau light and switched it on. "I want a good look at you," he explained as the car moved away.

They were holding hands unashamedly now; still smiling a little tremulously at each other. Judith said tragically:

"You look like—Zeus or something, but I'm sure I've aged terribly!"

"Terribly," David agreed gravely, and they both burst out laughing.

She looked about the car for something to hurl at David and said persuasively, "Not on my first day at home, please. Sit back and tell me about Aubrey and my nephew."

She leaned back and he put an arm about her shoulders. For half an hour she talked steadily.

Aubrey and Davey, who had watched for the headlights as they turned in the driveway, were waiting on the steps. Emily, Judith observed, was not visible. The two men gripped hands, smilingly and almost wordlessly, and Judith caught up her son.

They went inside the house and David stopped for a moment in the hall, in his eyes the expression of a pilgrim returning to a well-remembered shrine. He had known Morton Hall well in the past.

"Oh, Jude," he turned swiftly to her and his voice broke a little. "If you knew what it means to be back!" His eyes swept the living-room with the same hungry glance, as if he had only this moment to imprint its appearance upon his memory forever. Then he smiled at her.

"Quite the chateaux, aren't you?" Emily, tomorrow, breakfast before breakfast.

David took her hands, and smiled.

climax to a perfect homecoming. But his voice, Judith noted, was gay and not shaken; was friendly without being intimate. She held her breath, praying that Emily wouldn't betray herself.

Emily did not. Her smile was as gay as David's, and her voice as carefully controlled. "I thought I was beyond being surprised by the Carrolls, but I'm not. David, it's wonderful to see you!"

"If I tried to say how good it is to see you I'd be guilty of understatement."

She laughed quietly, and crossed the room to the others. To cover the pause Judith said quickly:

"Why can't we have our cocktails now? Then David can go up and array himself afterwards if he chooses."

David grinned. "I think I can bear it." He handed a glass to Emily and, as Judith re-entered the room, another to her. Then he lifted his own, as Judith had done six weeks before.

"For Auld Lang Syne." Over the rim of his glass his eyes sought Emily's for a second, then passed quickly on to the others.

"And the years ahead," Judith said quickly.

They drank, almost solemnly, and started as a crash shattered the stillness. Judith had flung her glass against the hearth.

David started and, unheeding, laughed roughly. "The same old Bernhard!" he teased her.

"I'm not," she defended herself hotly. "But that's the sort of toast that requires a broken glass."

Milk-House Construction.

The milk house is a vital building on any dairy farm. Its location and the arrangement of the equipment make it either handy or inconvenient to the dairyman.

Many milk houses in New York State need to be remodelled or rebuilt. To help dairymen to do this, a new Cornell bulletin has been published that tells about the size of milk houses, floor plans, construction details, and the washing and cooling equipment. The bulletin can always be used.

A Washington Daybook

By HERBERT PLUMMER

WASHINGTON — Observers in Washington wonder if Joseph E. Kennedy will be able to realize the wish he expressed when he resigned as chairman of the securities commission for a return to "a quiet, little, peaceful life" and to keep out of politics "for the rest of my natural life."

If so, he'll be a lot luckier than some of the others Mr. Roosevelt has persuaded to accept a "new deal" assignment and then permitted them to resign. Glance over the list:

Outstanding is General Hugh Johnson. When he quit NRA he thought it would be probably for a long time. Within a few months, however, he was back for a stretch in harness as administrator of WPA in New York at F. D. R.'s urgent request.

James Moffett made his first public appearance in Washington to help administer the oil code. He left after a short while and returned to private business. Mr. Roosevelt sent for him and made him administrator of the Federal Housing Administration.

Then there's Frank Walker. He left but begged the President for permission to quit the national emergency council to rehabilitate the finances of his chain of movie houses. Finally F. D. R. relented and let him go, but within a few weeks he called Walker back for an even more important post in the "new deal."

How He Stands
JOE KENNEDY, the "fighting Irishman," may get his wish, but the odds are against him.

His achievement as chairman of SEC has been outstanding. Characterized upon his arrival in the capital as the "Wolf of Wall street," within a week he had the commission functioning as one of the most harmonious agencies of the "new deal."

The fact that he left office on the most intimate terms with the President and recommended James K. Landis, a brain-truster, as his successor is eloquent testimony of how he stands with the administration and its advisers.

Secora Expected Back
THEN there's Frank Walker. He left but begged the President for permission to quit the national emergency council to rehabilitate the finances of his chain of movie houses. Finally F. D. R. relented and let him go, but within a few weeks he called Walker back for an even more important post in the "new deal."

Importance of national products, such as tobacco, coffee and the like, often are taken into consideration when a Latin-American country issues a stamp or a set of stamps.

A further example of this policy is provided in a new triangular airmail stamp just coming from Paraguay. While an airplane is included in the design, that part of the drawing is small, with the reproduction of a tobacco plant given the prominent central position.

Below the plant is the inscription, "The tobacco of Paraguay is of excellent quality." The stamp appears to be a new value, also, having a face of 17 pesos. The color is light brown.

Among the other countries which have called attention to their products via postage stamps are Salvador, Ecuador, Costa Rica, and Colombia, as well as Haiti. Coffee has been a prime subject for consideration, though Salvador also has pointed out that "only Salvador produces the balsam of Peru."

In at least one instance Colombia presented a special issue devoted to its products, described in the catalog as the "wealth of Colombia issue."

Besides a coffee plantation, it pictured an emerald mine, a platinum mine, gold mining and oil wells.

New Monaco Value
Monaco, the small principality on the southern coast of France famed for its Monte Carlo, has found the need for a 2.50 franc value in its current list of pictorial stamps first issued in 1932. So it has inserted an adhesive of that denomination, printed in orange.

The design is identical to that on the 25-cent olive black which pictures the royal palace as seen from a distance. The insert increases the number of current values to 20, ranging from 15 centimes to 20 francs and including the portrait of Prince Louis II on the 40-c.

While the triangular stamp has been rather popular abroad from time to time as a means of offering a different method of presentation, this plan never has been adopted for use in the United States.

Probably the most famous of the triangles are the early Ceres of Good Hope, among the first ever printed. These were prepared in 1852, 1855, 1861 and 1862. Most of them have a more or less high value rating, with two in particular in the rare classification. These are the 1-penny blue error and the 4-penny red error of 1861. The former is rated at $1,250 used and the latter at $3,400 unused or $1,250 used.

The stamps of the 1861 issue are known as "wood blocks," the plates being locally made. They were stereotyped mounted on wood. The errors were caused by a microtype of each value being mounted on the plate of the other value.

Mr. and Mrs. David Brundage and son, Edward, of Elmira were week-end guests at the home of Mrs. B. B. Edson and Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Slater.

FLASHES OF LIFE SKETCHED IN BRIEF

Name Make Director
Philadelphia—Daniel Boone is the manager of an employment agency here. Andrew Jackson is a dentist. George Washington is a detective.

Fair Fun
Bloomington, Pa.—F. P. Hagenbuch of Esby visited the fair here for the first consecutive year. He is 53 years old. He came the first time with his parents.

Smart, Eh?
Pittsburgh—A couple of policemen parked a police department car in a restricted zone. Their superintendent made them pay towing charges to get it out of the zone and suspended them for five days.

New Heat Wave
Chicago—Desk Sgt. James Burns of the stock yards station complained to Patrolman Albert Janner that it was "getting pretty warm." He was right. The station house was on fire. The firemen extinguished the blaze and estimated the damages at $100.

Heavy Food Imports
Washington, Oct. 2 (AP).—Heavy increases in American imports of foodstuffs during the first half of 1935 were reported today by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. Chamber statisticians, noting, among other things, a 117 per cent jump in wheat imports, a 11,462 per cent increase in corn imports, and a 356 per cent rise in cattle imports, attributed the increases to the drought and higher domestic prices.

W. C. T. U. Class Chowder
The Kingston Woman's Christian Temperance Union will hold a clam chowder sale Friday, October 11, at the home of the president, Mrs. George W. Shultz, 139 Pine street, telephone 1711-R. Orders may also be telephoned in advance to Mrs. S. M. Gillett, telephone 611, and to Mrs. W. J. Whiston, telephone 2032. The patronage of the public is invited.

PWA Activities Under Fire in Supreme Court

Washington, Oct. 2 (AP).—Activities of the Public Works Administration are under attack in the Supreme Court in two important cases.

One challenges the right of PWA to make loans or donations to municipalities to construct electric plants and distribution systems. The Kansas Supreme Court upheld PWA.

In the other, the Sixth Circuit Court of Appeals ruled invalid the section of the national industrial recovery act providing for sum clearance and low cost housing.

The case grew out of the condemnation of land in Louisville, Ky., soon after the Supreme Court begins its fall term next Monday. It will announce whether it will review these controversies. If it refuses, the decision of the next highest court will stand.

The Kansas Utilities Company

contended PWA had no right to make a $15,000 donation to Burlington, Kansas, to enable the city to construct an electric plant and distribution system.

The company contended any assistance given by the federal government to help it to operate in competition with private enterprise would result in taking its property without the process of law. It also contended, on the other hand, that utilities companies have a right to be free of a monopolistic position.

A vote of 6-3, by a majority of 5-4, the construction of the plant at a cost of $15,000, was to be made in addition to the PWA's $15,000.

In a Louisville slum clearance case, Edward J. Stewart and other owners of land condemned challenged the validity of the PWA action of land in Louisville, Ky.

The Sixth Circuit Court ruled that no power resides in the federal government to condemn private property for the purpose of these controversies. If it refuses, the decision of the next highest court will stand.

The court of appeals affirmed that judgment and PWA appealed to the Supreme Court.

First Gym Classes Held at the Y. M. C. A.

The first regular gym classes of the fall season were conducted at the Y. M. C. A. Tuesday afternoon.

In the Business Men's class, the following men enrolled: Dr. Julian Gifford, Ralph Gurney, Wesley Thompson, Lament Winter, Harry Thomas, the Rev. J. T. Legg, and Thomas Bohan.

Charles Reiche, the new physical director at the "Y", headed the groups in a manner which met with the approval of all who participated. Classes will be held regularly. Those interested may inquire at the Y. M. C. A. office.

It's in Pennsylvania the people called a "home and back" contest, for a quarter of a million money. Maybe they are tired of the color of gas.

Wholesale Trade Shows Slight Gain In Month of August

Albany, Oct. 1.—Wholesale trade establishments throughout the state showed increases of one per cent in employment and payrolls from July to August. Over the same period approximately 15,000 retail establishments indicated net drops of about two per cent in employment and payrolls. According to a statement issued today by Industrial Commissioner Elmer F. Andrews, some recession is expected in retail trade due to summer dullness in buying. A year ago reductions of 2.1 per cent in employment and of 2.8 per cent in payrolls were recorded.

These statements are based on a tabulation of approximately 80 per cent of the wholesale and retail firms who report to the State Department of Labor's Division of Statistics and Information which is under the direction of Dr. E. B. Patton. These firms employed 285,473 workers on a payroll of $6,918,136 in August.

All kinds of retail establishments shared in the decline except furniture and household appliance stores and lumber, hardware and building supplies stores. The apparel shops laid off the greatest percentage number of their workers with department stores next in line. In the wholesale group nearly all kinds of wholesalers gave some indication of renewed activity.

Seasonal Dullness in July Trade
Nineteen thousand one retail stores throughout the state laid off 6.1 per cent of their workers and cut payrolls 4.7 per cent from June to July. A year ago employment dropped 6.9 per cent and payrolls 4.9 per cent from June to July and two years ago the decrease amounted to 6.1 per cent for employment and 6.8 per cent for payrolls. While the decline for the month was no greater than for the same month in the two preceding years, the total number employed was 1.8 per cent less than in July a year ago and payrolls were 0.9 per cent lower. Compared with July, 1933, however, the total number of employees was 3.6 per cent greater this July and payrolls were 12.1 per cent higher.

Practically all kinds of retail establishments reported some decrease in both employment and payrolls due to seasonal dullness. The largest percentage decline of 17.3 per cent in employment and of 11.2 per cent in payrolls were in the apparel group. The department stores reported the second largest reductions of 8.7 per cent in number of employees and in payrolls. Restaurants and eating places and food and grocery stores curtailed forces and paid out less in wages, while reduced working forces were also reported by retailers of furniture and household articles and by the miscellaneous group which includes drug stores, cigar stands, florist shops, etc. Dealers in lumber and building materials reported a very small decrease in the number of employees and an increase of 2.1 per cent in payrolls. This continues the seasonal advance in this group which has been reported each month since April.

Wholesale trade establishments in New York state reduced employment 0.6 per cent and payrolls 1.6 per cent during the period from June to July according to a tabulation of reports from 5,845 establishments throughout the state. These reductions are a little greater than those reported a year ago when reductions of 0.4 per cent in employment and 0.7 per cent in payrolls were made from June to July in July, 1934. 2.4 per cent more workers were employed on a total payroll of 1.6 per cent higher than in July this year.

Reductions in employment were reported by all groups of wholesale trade except by distributors of food products, food specialties and groceries who increased their forces 0.7 per cent and by wholesalers of chemicals, drugs and paints who reported a slight increase of 0.1 per cent in employment. All groups reported lower payrolls. The greatest reduction in payrolls was registered by the automobile distributors and automobile supplies wholesalers, who paid out 4 per cent less in wages and commissions than in June to a total working force only 0.6 per cent smaller. This decrease, however, follows a substantial increase during the previous month.

In New York city 8,183 retail stores registered drops in employment of 7.4 per cent and in payrolls of 6.0 per cent from the middle of June to the middle of July. The reductions this year were not so great as those occurring in New York city stores from June to July last year when 9.8 per cent of the employees were let go and payrolls were lowered 7.6 per cent. Compared with July, 1934, however, employment in July this year was 2.2 per cent lower and payrolls were 0.9 per cent lower.

The decreases in New York city were apparent in all classes of stores except in the lumber, building materials and hardware group in which payrolls were increased 1.6 per cent. In this group, however, employment was reduced 0.9 per cent. Clothing stores laid off 18.4 per cent of their workers and reduced payrolls 10.2 per cent; department stores made reductions of 10.6 per cent in employment and 10.2 per cent in payrolls. Losses in employment and in payrolls were also reported by furniture and household goods dealers. Declines of more than four per cent in employment were reported by restaurants and eating places and by food and grocery stores.

Reports from 3,513 New York city wholesale establishments showed declines from June of 1.3 per cent in employment and of 1.7 per cent in payrolls. These reductions are greater than those made in up-state wholesale houses and are also greater than those made in New York city a year ago when employment fell off 0.8 per cent and payrolls decreased 1.2 per cent. The level of employment this year in July was 1.4 per cent below July, 1934, and payrolls were 0.9 per cent lower.

Nearly all groups of New York city wholesalers reported slightly greater reductions than those recorded for the state as a whole. The small group of wholesale automobile, accessories and gas and oil dealers, which reports separately for New York city registered decreases of 9.9 per cent in employment and 7.8 per cent in payrolls.

The City's wholesale apparel houses let go 2.9 per cent of their workers and reduced payrolls 3.5 per cent. Other groups of New York city wholesalers which showed reductions in employment of more than one per cent include the textiles, dry goods and general merchandise groups, the furniture and household group and the paper and its products group. The only increase reported was that of 0.2 per cent in employment which occurred in the food and groceries group.

Wholesale trade establishments throughout the state showed increases of one per cent in employment and payrolls from July to August. Over the same period approximately 15,000 retail establishments indicated net drops of about two per cent in employment and payrolls. According to a statement issued today by Industrial Commissioner Elmer F. Andrews, some recession is expected in retail trade due to summer dullness in buying. A year ago reductions of 2.1 per cent in employment and of 2.8 per cent in payrolls were recorded.

These statements are based on a tabulation of approximately 80 per cent of the wholesale and retail firms who report to the State Department of Labor's Division of Statistics and Information which is under the direction of Dr. E. B. Patton. These firms employed 285,473 workers on a payroll of $6,918,136 in August.

All kinds of retail establishments shared in the decline except furniture and household appliance stores and lumber, hardware and building supplies stores. The apparel shops laid off the greatest percentage number of their workers with department stores next in line. In the wholesale group nearly all kinds of wholesalers gave some indication of renewed activity.

Seasonal Dullness in July Trade
Nineteen thousand one retail stores throughout the state laid off 6.1 per cent of their workers and cut payrolls 4.7 per cent from June to July. A year ago employment dropped 6.9 per cent and payrolls 4.9 per cent from June to July and two years ago the decrease amounted to 6.1 per cent for employment and 6.8 per cent for payrolls. While the decline for the month was no greater than for the same month in the two preceding years, the total number employed was 1.8 per cent less than in July a year ago and payrolls were 0.9 per cent lower. Compared with July, 1933, however, the total number of employees was 3.6 per cent greater this July and payrolls were 12.1 per cent higher.

Practically all kinds of retail establishments reported some decrease in both employment and payrolls due to seasonal dullness. The largest percentage decline of 17.3 per cent in employment and of 11.2 per cent in payrolls were in the apparel group. The department stores reported the second largest reductions of 8.7 per cent in number of employees and in payrolls. Restaurants and eating places and food and grocery stores curtailed forces and paid out less in wages, while reduced working forces were also reported by retailers of furniture and household articles and by the miscellaneous group which includes drug stores, cigar stands, florist shops, etc. Dealers in lumber and building materials reported a very small decrease in the number of employees and an increase of 2.1 per cent in payrolls. This continues the seasonal advance in this group which has been reported each month since April.

Wholesale trade establishments in New York state reduced employment 0.6 per cent and payrolls 1.6 per cent during the period from June to July according to a tabulation of reports from 5,845 establishments throughout the state. These reductions are a little greater than those reported a year ago when reductions of 0.4 per cent in employment and 0.7 per cent in payrolls were made from June to July in July, 1934. 2.4 per cent more workers were employed on a total payroll of 1.6 per cent higher than in July this year.

Reductions in employment were reported by all groups of wholesale trade except by distributors of food products, food specialties and groceries who increased their forces 0.7 per cent and by wholesalers of chemicals, drugs and paints who reported a slight increase of 0.1 per cent in employment. All groups reported lower payrolls. The greatest reduction in payrolls was registered by the automobile distributors and automobile supplies wholesalers, who paid out 4 per cent less in wages and commissions than in June to a total working force only 0.6 per cent smaller. This decrease, however, follows a substantial increase during the previous month.

In New York city 8,183 retail stores registered drops in employment of 7.4 per cent and in payrolls of 6.0 per cent from the middle of June to the middle of July. ## C & R Social Club At Fireman's Home

Sunday was a gala day at the Fireman's Home in Hudson when 75 members of the C. & R. Social Club, which is composed of the membership of Cornell Hose Company and Rescue Hook & Ladder Company of this city, visited the home and put on a splendid entertainment.

The building and entrance was gayly decorated with flags and welcome signs. The visitors were welcomed by Past Trustee Seth Cole, and the Social Club then presented the surprise entertainment, which was said to be one of the best ever given at the institution.

The program was made up of the Catskill Mountaineers, Oulton & Kelly, soloist, Bill Crosby, singing cowboy, C. & R. Gutter Band, Smith trio in a minstrel sketch, Reis & Huber in a comedy sketch, Martin Dunn, Irish tenor; the Harmonians in songs and sketch; Oulton & Smith in a comedy turn; the Oulton Crazy Kids in dances, and a vocal solo by Elsie Chief Joseph Murphy of this city.

The local fire chief also delivered an address. The program closed

HINTS ON HOME IMPROVEMENT

Housing Hints

Tips on How and What to Improve

Attractive Closets

Make bedroom closets more attractive by painting the interiors a color which will contrast with the main color in the bedroom. With a bedroom in which blue-green predominates use a warm rust tone. Paint the inside of the closet door the same rust tone and it will add an interesting color change to the bedroom when the closet door is opened.

Finish all accessories to match. Shown racks, shelves, cupboards, etc. Enamel plain wooden hangers. The smooth surface makes it easier to slip garments on and off the hangers.

Insulating Materials

When choosing a material for insulating the house, check for the following requirements:

1. Durability.
2. Vermin proof.
3. Moisture proof.
4. Mechanical strength.
5. No increase in fire hazard.
6. Nonodorous.

The final choice, after all these requirements have been met, will depend on the cost and place the material is to be used.

Wiring the House

If you are contemplating new home wiring remember the benefits of adequate wiring.

If your wiring system is not prepared to take care of all electrical appliances now, it will prove costly to add them later.

A really complete job now will cost much less than an inadequate job with future additions.

Basement Laundry

The men of the house usually need a separate washroom located in the basement near the workshop.

A small washroom may be added for a nominal cost. It should have proper light and is more convenient if shelves for soap, brushes, etc., are included. The walls and door should be painted a bright cheerful color in a good washable paint. It is a good idea to apply a ring of dark color paint about the door knob, for this will not show up dirty finger prints like a lighter tone.

Usually, specially selected old towels and wash cloths are reserved for workshop use. A towel cupboard should be built for these.

Decorative Plaster

If you are building a new house or remodeling an old one, investigate the possibilities of decorative plaster over masonry.

Often a picture over the fireplace will overbalance the wall. An attractive design in relief left the same color as the remainder of the walls, will add interest to the space above the fireplace, but will not overemphasize it.

Many attractive designs are executed for this purpose. Among the interesting subjects used in a modern room was a relief map of the state in which the house was located.

Kitchen Closet

Add an appliance closet in the kitchen. Here all the smaller mechanical equipment—mixers, toasters, waffle irons, etc.—may be placed on shelves designed to accommodate them. On the door, place a row of hooks and paste white labels above each one. The electric cords which fit each appliance may be hung here and the name of the appliance placed above it. This will prevent cords from becoming tangled, and they will be easy to locate.

Paint the interior of the closet a color which contrasts with the main kitchen wall color.

REMODELING AND NEW CONSTRUCTION

First Floor Built For Comfort

All Given Over to Living Room and Dining Unit.

Having designed a house of simple, graceful lines, the architect has given considerable attention to its "livableness."

The result is plainly apparent in the first floor plan, half of which is taken up by the commodious living room, with the other half given over to the kitchen unit and dining alcove. Large windows give this floor an unusual combination of light and air. There is an open porch at the rear.

The second floor also gives evidence of careful planning in the layout of the three bedrooms, bath and stairway. Simple chest space is also provided.

To complete the picture of conveniences which this house presents, there is a basement for the heating plant and storage.

The first floor is of reinforced concrete slabs on structural steel, with the exterior walls stuccoed. The second floor and roof are of beam steel construction.

A garage may be added to the left of the main structure. The plot should be selected with landscaping in view to give this house an effective setting. The design, by Lucius Moore, was made for the New York Chapter of the American Institute of Architects' low cost house competition.

Relationship Between House, Planting Given

There is a definite relationship between the design and materials of a house and the type of planting utilized for the base planting. This fact is often overlooked, and a house which might be pleasing in proper surroundings may appear to be awkward and ill-fitted to its site.

Of course, the house should be planned in the beginning to fit a particular site and appear to set comfortably on its land. It should be related to the natural contours of the property. Assuming that it has been properly located, the most important aspect of the landscaping problem lies in the choice of appropriate planting about the base of the house. The height, texture, and density of this planting must be designed as an integral part of the complete picture of the structure. If the shrubbery is too thick and forms a continuous mass around the foundation, the building itself will lose its relationship to the ground. Sufficient open space should be left in order that the house can be seen to rest on the earth and not on a "shrub pillow."

The formality or informality of the house will determine the type of planting. A rambling, informal cottage should not be surrounded with stiff, formal shrubs. Informal groups of light-textured plants, low enough not to dwarf the mass of the house and varied in pattern, can be arranged to enhance the attractive simplicity of this type of house.

After the appropriate shrubbery has been planted, it must be properly controlled. Often if it is not pruned or thinned out yearly, it loses all the advantages of the original scheme.

The color and texture of the exterior finish and the amount and delicacy of the ornament of a house must be related to the planting. The shrubbery at the foundation should never compete with the importance of the house itself, but should maintain a properly studied relationship.

Many otherwise well-designed houses cannot be fully appreciated because they are not appropriately landscaped.

HOUSING QUESTION BOX

Q. What color should I paint a basement laundry room?

A. White or a light shade of some bright, reflective color should be used.

In most basements, there is insufficient window area, and a light paint will reflect the maximum amount of daylight available.

Many housewives prefer white because it makes the room appear clean and a proper place for doing laundry. Others prefer warm yellow. The color is not as important as the reflective quality of the paint, however.

Q. I would like to use some type of hollow masonry wall units for my house. Is this a satisfactory method of construction?

A. Many investigations have been conducted in the last few years on the strength, stability, and fire resistance of walls built of hollow units, including those built of structural clay tile, and the tile and blocks made from various types of concrete.

In general, the investigations show a marked improvement in the quality of such units and a great increase in their application to residential construction.

The quality of the mortar has been found to be one of the most important factors affecting the compressive stress of walls built of hollow masonry units, and in using them particular care should be used to secure good workmanship.

Some types of hollow units can be used without exterior or interior plastering or other finish, and paint may be applied directly to the structural wall.

Q. Can I put a new coat of paint over enamel?

A. Do not paint over a glossed surface.

Remove the gloss with a solution of one pound of soda in a gallon of water or any good commercial paint cleaner. Then apply the paint.

HOME BUYING and BUILDING

"Why" Property Standards

(Note—This is the nineteenth in a series of articles pertaining to the mutual mortgage insurance plan of the National Housing Act. For specific information on any particular subject or for previous articles in this series, write to the Federal Housing Administration, Washington, D. C.)

The Federal Housing Administration has set up property standards by which they judge and approve properties for mutual mortgage insurance. In issuing these standards the Administration does not propose requirements to build down to but those to build up from.

As the custodian of funds accumulated from insurance premiums, the Federal Housing Administration must eliminate, so far as possible, the risks to which these funds may be subjected. For this reason they must approve only those properties whose prospects of continued utility are sufficiently good to give assurance of their enduring as sound investments throughout the life of the mortgage.

At the same time the Federal Housing Administration wishes to encourage improvement in housing standards and conditions. It is the opinion of the Administration that in long-time investment satisfactory social conditions tend to assure economic soundness.

This twofold aim is a protection both to the mortgage and mortgagor. For example, if the Administration finds that a residence is to be located improperly on a lot and that it will probably decline in value because of the fact that sufficient light and air are not provided, it is to the interests of both mortgagee and mortgagor that they be made aware of this fact.

The principle of mutual mortgage insurance obviously requires a mutuality between the participants, and such a condition may exist only where a similar risk relationship exists. The owner of a well-designed property of sound value should not have to suffer because of the loss in value sustained by economically unsound properties. Therefore, all mortgages are graded according to the amount of risk involved into various classes, the standards offering a guide in this classification.

So far, the majority of the applicants for insurance have recognized the importance of this method. They have found the standards as set up to be desirable, reasonable, and practical.

The next article will outline the property standards, both minimum and desirable, which govern the approval of properties eligible for insurance.

Built-In Beds Add To Home Convenience

A small bedroom in a house or an apartment may be made more convenient by the addition of a built-in bed. In the household which has several children who bring guests for the week-end, the efficient utilization of small extra rooms or attics for additional guest room space is an important factor. Double-decker built-in beds will greatly aid in the solution of the problem.

The built-in bed may be very attractive if it is properly designed. It should harmonize with the other furnishings in the room. With proper care, the space above, below, and at the end may be utilized. Usually a room is a few feet longer than a bed, even though it be the old sleeping room or second floor bedroom space. This length from the end of the bed to the wall may be used for a closet. A two or three foot hanging space will be sufficient for the normal amount of clothes the overnight or week-end guest will bring.

A shelf for shoes set up off the floor and a shelf above for hats should be added.

The space below the bed may be enclosed by doors and be used as a storage space for luggage. On the wall at the head of the bed a shelf for books and a reading lamp may be added.

The double-decker may be planned to provide the above spaces, although an additional book shelf and lamp should be added for the upper bed.

If the room is too small to hold a comfortable arm chair, the bed may be used as a couch in the daytime. Large triangular pillows and a spread of a durable material will make this more comfortable.

If no other furniture is available for the extra room, a built-in dressing table and bench may be installed at the same time the bed is built. The dressing table may be so designed that one-half of it can be used as a writing desk.

Paint Industry Joins in Drive

Washington, D. C.—Value of the "clean-up and paint-up" campaign sponsored by the paint, varnish, and lacquer industry is fire prevention is emphasized by the National Board of Fire Underwriters.

"The fire insurance industry," says the official publication of the board, "is particularly interested in the value of paint from a fire-prevention standpoint. Unprotected wood has a tendency to weather and dry out until it becomes like tinder. Paint, however, keeps wood in good condition, so that a wooden building, painted, is less likely to take fire than one that is unpainted. Another important point is that, in order to paint, it is first necessary to clean up, thus eliminating the hazard of accumulated refuse."

Community Economy

"Prevention of fire," according to the National Clean-up and Paint-up Campaign Bureau, "is community economy. The many logical things which the fire-prevention committee can do include the securing of regular, systematic inspections for fire hazards by firemen in their districts, special inspections by firemen of the basements of all dwellings, and a reduction of the conflagration hazard by securing the condemnation and removal of dilapidated buildings, using the unemployed for labor."

"Grass, brush, and dump grass may be reduced by securing special patrols in dry weather and supervising the burning over of vacant lots or moving these same lots before the grass and weeds are dry or go to seed."

"The National Fire Protection Association, which with the National Clean-up and Paint-up Campaign Bureau is an electric cooperative, has well pointed out that every run by the fire department which could have been prevented by a little forethought and care is the little analysis, says money to the taxpayer."

"Many impressive reductions in fire losses have been recorded, following well-conducted clean-up, paint-up and

Shops Built In Basements Give Pleasure

A dry, well-lighted corner of the basement may be converted into a workshop. This will not only be a pleasant addition for those who enjoy making things but will prove to be useful as well. Here, during the winter, repairs of various kinds may be made—summer furniture, screens, bookcases, etc.

While it is not necessary that it be separated from the remainder of the basement, it may be advisable to do so. Shavings and sawdust will then be confined to this space.

Plan shelves, cases, and all types of storage space which will be needed. Place the work bench near the window and install a drop light over it for night work.

Build a special cabinet for tools. It is important that they be kept dry. Any moisture will cause them to rust, and many costly ones will be ruined.

A more attractive work space will be created if some light, warm color is used.

To protect areas which will be located where they will not easily reach, such as the space around door handles, etc., paint them a dark contrasting color.

Lay out the location of all the mechanical equipment—power cords or drills, etc.—many of these will require a particularly sturdy table.

Plant Shelves

Potted plants make a winter living room more attractive. Before winter comes and shelves near the window. These may be painted to harmonize with the color of the woodwork. The use of a row of identical square white pots makes an attractive window ledge in an otherwise drab living room. If more color is desired, very gay pots in different colors may be arranged.

Two Daytime Dresses

No. 1733-B. Sleeve Interest in a One-Piece Dress

Everything seems to happen above the waistline in this season's clothes.

Take this smart frock! The round yoke makes the shoulders broad, and leg-o-mutton sleeves heighten the effect. The collar is round, but rather low in front, especially good for the millions of lovely scarfs which are so tempting. The blouse buttons down the front to the belt. The skirt is simple, but there are pleats at the sides, which carry out the new idea of a bit of flare, somewhere.

Sizes 14, 16, 18, 20; 40 and 42. Corresponding bust measurements 32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42. Size 16 (34) requires 2 1/2 yards of 54-inch material.

This pattern may be procured for 15 cents

No. 1702-B. A Lovely Dress for Afternoons

This frock has a neck that is squared in front, with a softly rolled collar at the back and sides. CMPS finish the points where the collar leaves off, and are used on the cuffs of the short full sleeves. The blouse is draped at the waistline, and held in back by an ornamental buckle. The skirt has just a suggestion of front fullness, with darts that start at the waist, and stop midway to the knees. Ornamental, if not really doing much about a definitely full skirt!

Sizes 14, 16, 18, 20; 40 and 42. Corresponding bust measurements 32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42. Size 16 (34) requires 4 yards of 39-inch material.

This pattern may be procured for 15 cents

Tomorrow: One-piece dress for morning wear.

BEAUTY ADVICE FOR MATURE WOMEN IN OUR HOME INSTITUTE BOOKLET

TRY THESE EXERCISES TO SLIM THE HIPS

After 30, hips do have a habit of getting wider. What about yours? A trifle broader than you'd like? Then it's exercise for you. For it really is possible to keep hips fashionably slim, or take off inches, by the proper kind of exercise.

Now don't think we're suggesting a strenuous daily dozen. On the contrary, go at your exercising slowly. Don't do any exercise long enough to leave you tired and aching. Try an exercise three times, five times; then if you find you do it easily and enjoy it, gradually increase the number.

How to Do Them

Exercise 1 in our illustration is grand for hips and abdominal muscles. Lie on your back on the floor. Draw up your knees, and roll from right to left hip, and back again. Keep shoulders flat on the floor. If possible, in order to bring more movement into the abdominal muscles. Our standing figure on the right (Exercise 2) demonstrates a kicking exercise, done as follows: Swing leg forward, then back, keeping knee straight. Hold yourself erect during this exercise, and lift chest as leg swings back. Swing each leg 10 to 15 times.

To do Exercise 3, lie flat on the floor. Bring right knee to your chest, and clasp hands about the knee to bring it even closer. Then loosen your hands and kick foot in the air, with knee straight and heel pointing up. Lower leg slowly, toe leading. Repeat exercise, alternating legs. Be sure your knee is straight when foot is in the air, and that it remains straight as it is lowered to the floor, for the benefit of the exercise depends on this.

Send for Beauty Booklet

Possibly it isn't hips—but the chin line—that's your beauty problem. You'll find several exercises to correct sagging throat muscles in our 40-page Home Institute booklet, "Beauty for the Mature Woman," with sound advice on such other subjects as:

What to Do About Gray Hair
Costume Colors to Wear
Clothes That Flatter
Keeping the Skin Clear

Donation Day at Home for the Aged

Each year there is one event of importance to the entire county that comes in October, and this year the date will be Friday, October 25. The event is the annual donation day at the Home for the Aged at the Home on Washington Avenue. This is the Home for the Aged, and the Board of Managers hope the people will come to the Home for the Aged to see it, that the people of Ulster County, both to their capacity on October 25.

In and about Kingston, is very great, and there is surely ample farm produce in the county to take care of this dire need. Vegetables and fruits, fresh and canned, will be particularly acceptable as will be any food supplies in these days of climbing prices of food stuffs. Any one planning to bring fruit or vegetables to the Home should be sure and keep the date in mind, October 25. The Home for the Aged belongs to the entire county and the Board of Managers hope the people will come to the Home for the Aged to see it, that the people of Ulster County, both to their capacity on October 25.

Honor Memory of Late Dr. Mary Gage-Day

Appreciation of the services she had rendered to the Republican party in Ulster county and the state, and of her endearing characteristics and adherence to the principles she advocated, was unanimously voiced by the officials and assembled members of the Ulster county Republican committee at the public meeting held in the Y. M. C. A. Auditorium Tuesday night, when resolutions were adopted on the death of the late Dr. Mary Gage-Day.

The resolutions, which were presented by Mrs. Helen Otis of the Sixth Ward, Kingston, read as follows:

The untimely and tragic death of Dr. Mary Gage-Day at St. Petersburg, Florida, March 7, 1935, impels us to inscribe upon the minutes of this meeting as a perpetual record, our deep sorrow at her passing, the respect in which she was held by us, her associates, and the appreciation which all feel for her unflinching devotion to her duties as a member of the state committee, vice-chairman of Ulster county and committeewoman.

Dr. Mary Gage-Day became interested in Republican politics some years ago, she, having uppermost in her mind the welfare of the party, faithfully and conscientiously served as an active worker in the city, county and state.

In addition to her medical profession and her political interests she had time to devote her energy and ability to her church and civic affairs.

Whereas Dr. Mary Gage-Day to the full extent of her vast capabilities as a committeewoman of this city, vice-chairman of this county and as a member of the state committee gave her loyal and untiring services to the Republican party.

NOW THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that we members of the Republican party, friends and associates of the late Dr. Mary Gage-Day, in this meeting assembled, express our deep sense of loss, our appreciation of those endearing characteristics and our steadfast adherence to those principles she advocated and held dear, and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that a copy of these resolutions be entered in full upon the minutes of this meeting, that a copy be sent to her bereaved family and that copies be furnished to the press.

Events Around The Empire State

Binghamton, N. Y., Oct. 2 (AP).—Lewis A. Benedict, 53, of Gulf Stream, was fatally injured last night when he was struck by a truck as he was crossing the highway at McCune near here. Albert A. Hartz, of Deposit, driver of the truck told authorities he did not see Benedict because of the heavy rain.

Calliecon, N. Y., Oct. 2 (AP).—James H. Curtis, prominent Sullivan county attorney and former chairman of the board of supervisors, died suddenly at his home here yesterday from acute indigestion.

Mr. Curtis served on the board of supervisors for 24 consecutive years as a member from the town of Delaware. His family has been identified with Sullivan county affairs since 1832.

Binghamton, N. Y., Oct. 2 (AP).—John Barsocki, 48, was believed today to have been burned to death in a fire which destroyed a barn on his farm on the Cornell Hollow road in Tioga county yesterday.

Sergeant Joseph A. Murphy and Trooper James A. Mahoney of the state police found charred human bones and a small belt buckle in the ashes.

Rochester, N. Y., Oct. 2 (AP).—A police car equipped with loud speaker which blares forth traffic violations to the embarrassment of passing motorists, is cruising streets here this week in an intensive campaign to enforce vehicle laws.

Nantucket, Mass., Oct. 2 (AP).—Mrs. Grace Davis Barnes, widow of William Barnes, one-time Republican leader in New York state, died here yesterday of a heart attack. She had lived here 25 years.

Babylon, N. Y., Oct. 2 (AP).—Police investigated today the death of Theresa Hill Schwemle, 19-year-old bride of a month who died yesterday four hours after state police found her unconscious in a furnished apartment.

She had come here a month from Buffalo, N. Y., with her husband, Adam Schwemle, 40, an engineer employed by a Long Island aviation company.

Police Chief Thomas Gallagher said Schwemle had asked him yesterday to talk to his wife because he feared she might attempt suicide. Gallagher said he suggested to Mrs. Schwemle that she "some rest." Contents of notes found in the home were withheld pending an inquest to be held tomorrow.

Chicago Scores Two Runs in First Inning of Opening Game

By ALAN GOULD.

American Press Sports Editor.

Navin Field, Detroit, Oct. 2 (AP).—Under cloudy skies and in a more or less subdued setting, sharply contrasting with the riotous finish to the last World Series here, the Detroit Tigers and the Chicago Cubs renewed an old baseball argument today.

Upwards of 48,000 fans, apparently filling the American League Park, turned out for the opening game of the 1935 championship series despite cool and cheerless weather. It was a better day for topcoats, furs and football than it was for peanuts pop and baseball.

Rival right handed aces from Arkansas, Lynnwood (Schoolboy) Rowe of the Tigers and Lonnie Warneke of the Cubs, were the pitching selections for the opener with the hopes of each ball club riding on their skill. Handling them were two of the best backstops in baseball, Gabby Hartnett, the Club cloutier, and Manager Mickey Cochrane, fiery leader of the home club.

The big crowd stood for the National Anthem and turned loose a big roar as the Tigers took the field. Baseball Commissioner Landis tossed out the first ball.

The line-ups:

Chicago (N. Y.)—Galan, 1f; Herman, 2b; Lindstrom, cf; Hartnett, c; Demaree, rf; Cavarretta, 1b; Hack, 3b; Jurgens, ss; Warneke, p.

Detroit (A. L.)—White, cf; Cochrane, p; Gehring, 2b; Greenberg, 1b; Gossin, lf; Fox, rf; Rogell, ss; Owen, 3b; Rowe, p.

Umpires—Plate, Moriarty (A. L.); first base, Quigley (N. Y.); second base, McGowan (A. L.); third base, Stark (N. Y.).

The start of the game was delayed a few minutes by a protracted session between the managers and umpires at the plate. Ground rules were discussed, a hurried inspection made of the tarpaulin rolled up in front of the right field bleachers and spectators requested to take their coats from the railings in front of the field boxes. Finally agreement appeared to be reached on all moot points and the game was on.

First Inning, Cubs.

Galan up—Umpire Moriarty suddenly called a halt to order the removal of sound camera apparatus from behind the plate. Strike one on Galan, called. Foul strike two against the screen. Galan hit sharply over second base and raced to second as Rogell deflected the ball to short center. It was scored as a two-base hit.

Herman up—Strike one swinging. Foul strike two against the screen. Ball one high. Herman dragged a roller along the third baseline and reached first safely as Rowe threw wildly. Galan scored as the ball rolled past the first baseman. Rowe was charged with an error and Greenberg, who made a desperate stab but missed the ball, damaged a finger on his right hand. Herman stopped at first base.

Lindstrom up—Lindstrom sacrificed, Rowe to Greenberg as Herman scampered to second.

Hartnett up—Ball one low and outside. Hartnett singled to right scoring Herman.

Demaree up—Ball one low and outside. Demaree popped to Rogell, behind the pitcher's box.

Cavarretta up—Foul strike one in to the dirt. Foul strike two, the ball caromed off Cochrane's chest protector. Cavarretta grounded to Gehring and Hartnett was a force out at second, Gehring to Rogell.

Two runs, two hits, one error, one left.

First Inning, Tigers.

White up—Ball one high and inside. Strike one called. Foul strike two, the ball bounding against the press box off the third base line. Ball two low. Foul over the upper deck off right field. Foul against the Chicago dugout. Foul along the third base line. Strike three called.

Cochrane up—Ball one inside. Strike one called. Warneke was getting a hop on his fast one. He looked to have good control. Strike two swinging hard at a curve. Foul into the dirt behind the plate. Cochrane hoisted a short fly to Galan.

Gehring up—Strike one called. Foul strike two, the ball rolling in to the Cub dugout. Gehring lifted a high one to Jurgens who backed up on the grass for the catch.

No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

Warneke had given a free exhibition, getting the first three Tigers without difficulty.

Second Inning, Cubs.

Hack up—Ball one inside. Hack looped a short fly that Gehring caught in short center.

Jurgens up—Strike one called. Jurgens lined a hit past Rogell. Gossin fumbled the ball and was charged with an error as Jurgens gained an extra base and reached second.

Warneke up—Ball one low. Warneke tied to Fox in short right. Jurgens held second.

Galan up—Ball one inside. Ball two inside. Strike one called. Foul strike two down the third base line. It was a hard smash. Galan struck out swinging at a change of pace. It was a nice piece of work by Rowe and the Tiger rooters let loose their first roar.

Second Inning, Tigers.

Greenberg up—Ball one inside. Foul strike one behind the plate. Foul strike two hard but topped a change of pace. Ball two high and outside. Greenberg bounced to Hack and was thrown out at first on a clean play.

Gossin up—Umpire Moriarty went over to the Chicago dugout to warn the Cubs against making too much commotion. Strike one on Gossin, called. Ball one low. Strike two swinging hard at a low curve. Ball one low. Gossin fumbled along the first base line and was tossed out. Warneke to Cavarretta.

Fox up—Ball one inside. Foul strike one behind the plate. Fox doubled against the right field screen. The ball missed clearing the barrier for a home run by barely a foot.

Rogell up—Rogell flied to Galan who misjudged the ball but backed up just in time to get his outstretched hands on it.

Third Inning, Cubs.

Herman up—Herman lined to Greenberg who made a sensational leaping catch with his gloved hand to rob the Cub second sacker of a base hit.

Lindstrom up—Lindstrom smacked the first pitch to left for a single.

Hartnett up—Strike three called and Lindstrom was doubled trying to steal. Cochrane to Gehring.

No runs, one hit, no errors, none left.

Third Inning, Tigers.

Owen up—Hit sharply to the box and Warneke made a quick recovery, after deflected the ball, to catch the Tiger third baseman with a quick throw to Cavarretta.

Rowe up—Ball one inside. Rowe grounded out, Warneke to Cavarretta.

White up—Hit sharply over Cavarretta's head for a single. Past work by Demaree kept White from trying for an extra base.

Cochrane up—Rolled to Warneke and was tossed out at first.

Fourth Inning, Cubs.

Demaree up—Cracked the first pitch past Rogell for a single.

Cavarretta up—Cavarretta bunted along the first base line and was tossed out. Rowe to Greenberg on a close play as Demaree reached second on the sacrifice.

Hack up—Hack rolled out. Gehring to Greenberg.

Jurgens up—Fanned swinging at a high hard one and the crowd let loose a yell.

No runs, one hit, no errors, one left.

Rowe looked good in pitching himself out of a hole. The big Tiger right-hander seemed to be getting better and had the Cubs guessing.

Luncheon Given the Benedictine Graduates

The members of the graduating class of the Benedictine Hospital School of Nursing were the guests of honor on Tuesday afternoon at a delightful luncheon given for them by the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Benedictine Hospital at the Governor Clinton Hotel. The luncheon which was so greatly enjoyed by the 19 members of the graduating class was served in the large dining room at half past one o'clock. Mrs. Edward B. Loughran, president of the auxiliary presiding.

The room presented a beautiful appearance as the guests and members of the auxiliary entered. The tables, decorated with baskets or large bowls filled with pink dahlias and pale blue delphiniums were most attractive and there were special floral decorations at the table assigned to the graduates. Lighted candles added to their attractiveness.

A very delicious luncheon was admirably served by Mr. Gross, manager of the hotel.

At the finish of the repast, Mrs. Loughran very graciously welcomed the members of the graduating class of 1935 of the Benedictine Hospital, the largest class in the history of the training school, to graduate.

But Mrs. Loughran had learned from the sisters at the hospital and the instructors of the class, that size was not the only point on which the class was to be congratulated, for they had not fallen short of the high standards of work and study required of them and their loyal cooperation had been highly commendable.

During the past year two who had been devotedly interested in the Nurses' school of training at the hospital had died. Last year Dr. Mary Gage-Day had been with them and had spoken highly of the past history and present achievement of the school in which she was always so deeply interested. Only a short time ago Mrs. N. D. J. Murphy had been with them and she too had been devotedly interested in the school and its members, especially those who graduated.

Mrs. Loughran expressed the satisfaction that all felt in our having in Kingston a young woman of such distinction as to have her rightful place in "Who's Who Among American Women." Dr. Elizabeth Moore Parsons, and Mrs. Loughran said that it gave her great pleasure to introduce Dr. Parsons as the speaker of the afternoon.

Dr. Parsons expressed her pleasure in being with the members of the graduating class of 1935 of the Benedictine Training School of Nurses and the members of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the hospital on such a happy occasion.

After three years of training the class members were about to go out into the world with one object in view, that of serving individuals in the hope of healing and comforting those in trouble either physical or mental. But Dr. Parsons begged them to remember besides the routine efficiency and standardization that the comfort and well being of their patients were to be their chief consideration. With the added responsibilities of the past few years the challenge of today is far greater than formerly. Today mental nursing is broader in its scope. With the changing times we have the socialization of medical nursing. There are places where for a few years a few people are kept well and money is set aside for the future so that large sums of money are not suddenly required as they have been. Dr. Parsons believed that in time the whole nursing world would adopt a similar plan. The speaker, however, pointed out that there were two opposing factors

Little Garden Club

The Little Garden Club will meet this week on Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Prescott Clapp, No. 61 Lounsbury Place.

Sorority Meeting

A regular meeting of the Pi Alpha Omicron Sorority was held Tuesday evening at the home of the Misses Gertrude and Beatrice Kreppel. Final plans were made for a dance to be held October 9 at Spinnery's.

Miss Cramer Engaged

New Paltz, Oct. 2.—Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Cramer of Beacon have announced the engagement of their daughter, Carolyn Braye Cramer, to Henry William DuBois, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eli DuBois of New Paltz. The wedding date has not been set.

Birthday Party

Marlborough, Oct. 2.—Recently in the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Miller of Balmville a birthday party was given in honor of W. J. Burrows of Marlborough, the occasion being his birthday. Supper was served at which a large birthday cake was the center of attraction. Those present included Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Burrows, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Cosman, Mr. and Mrs. John Schults, Mr. and Mrs. Milton B. Cosman and Mr. and Mrs. James Collins.

Miss Havens Engaged

Mrs. George W. Havens of Montgomery has announced the engagement of her daughter, C. Elizabeth Havens, to Fletcher H. Bingham, son of the late John W. and Mary B. Bingham of Marlborough. Mr. Bingham received his early education in the local school and later attended the Newburgh Academy. In 1932 he was graduated from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, where he was a member of Eta Tau Nu Fraternity. He is now connected with the Newburgh office of the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp.

Surprise Party

A surprise party was given by Mrs. Chester Kliner of 210 Foxhall avenue and Mrs. Nicholas Nagle of 88 Emerick street, in honor of Mrs. Sadie L. Freiligh, also of 88 Emerick street. A buffet luncheon was served, dancing and games enjoyed and Mrs. Freiligh received many nice presents, with the good wishes of all. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Nagle, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Burger, Joseph Young, in socialized nursing. While medical science has made great strides, the cost of socialized nursing has increased 80 to 90 per cent and a great many are not able to pay the increased cost. "How can such a situation be harmonized?" asked Dr. Parsons. Modern civilization will not allow the suffering of humanity that can be alleviated. Private beneficence, local, state and federal taxation, corporations, voluntary health insurance, etc. calls for added nursing aid and there are more demands than there have been. And there are fewer special nurses. Yet socialized public health work, calls for special nurses and there are need of such specialization in nursing in hospitals, as teachers and supervisors and in doctors' offices. Even hotels, factories and trans-Atlantic steamers have their nurses. So Dr. Parsons advised specializing in some of the lines mentioned even though it would require further training for the special services.

But no matter what branch of nursing they might take up, again Dr. Parsons begged of the young women about to graduate to remember always that they should go to those in trouble with sympathy and understanding which would be the richest of their offerings of service and would add infinitely to their and their patients' happiness. The best was always patient, kindly, understanding and in sympathy with human nature.

Crowds Battle for Tickets for Opening World Series Game

By EDWARD J. NEIL
Associated Press Sports Writer

Detroit, Oct. 2 (AP)—The long, limber right arms of a couple of tough farmer boys from Arkansas—Lonnie Warneke, ace of the Chicago Cubs, and Lynwood (Schoolboy) Rowe, the pet and hero of Detroit—hailed back the drapes on baseball's big show today, the world series of 1935, a production P. T. Barnum would have envied.

In a setting of mad enthusiasm, crowds jamming the streets battling for tickets, the high and low tossed about alike in the whirlwind of hysteria always stirred up by the big fall climax of American sport, prediction and speculation gave way to reality. Everyone headed for the ball park, or the nearest radio receiver.

It seemed certain to be another $1,000,000 spectacle—this duel of the young, high flying Cubs, winging along on the impetus of a 21-game winning streak down the National League stretch, and the slugging Tigers who swept the American League boards for the second straight year. It was a case of "quit arguing, now, and get out your money," with Chicago influences and cash lifting the Cubs from the underdog role to even money favoritism.

Around Navin Field swirled the front ranks of the throng heading through the gates at 9 a. m. for the 19,000 individual perches on the vast expanse of pine seats stretching beyond the left field walls, encroaching on that part of the playing field so that the home run distance has been cut to 301 feet in that direction.

Every reserved seat was sold, and scalpers demanded $75 each for choice box locations originally priced at $60.

The dynamic young Cubs, behind their great rifleman, Warneke, were slight favorites to win the first game.

It was a case of youth and drive on the side of the Cubs, flaring courage that showed through the National League stretch, against a team that many of the experts think passed its peak about the time it clubbed the last vestige of opposition out of the American League about a month ago.

It was Mickey Cochrane's problem today to lift up by the bootstraps the identical team that fell before the Gas House Gang from St. Louis last fall, shook off those defeats to win the American League flag, but slumped so in the stretch that they won only 12 of their last 26 games.

Laying Groundwork For Big Off-Season Player Shake-up

Detroit, Oct. 2 (AP)—Major league magnates and managers, taking a business holiday for the World Series, already have seized opportunities to lay the groundwork for one of the biggest player shake-ups any off-season has witnessed in years.

Even with a fair percentage deducted for lobby gossip and feelers that fall through, at point-blank conversational range it appears today that at least a dozen of the 16 big league teams will figure in the wholesale swapping session before the call is sounded for spring training.

Most of the trade talk revolves around the Philadelphia Athletics, who finished last in the American League, and the St. Louis Cardinals, knocked out of the National League race by the sensational Chicago Cubs. Both have some tempting material. Their motives for parting with any of it, however, are vastly different.

The Cards, still a great ball club, contemplate only a few strategic shifts designed to build up another pennant winner. Branch Rickey, however, has at attractive list of chain-store talent for prospective bidders.

All reports to the contrary, the celebrated Dean brothers, as well as Joe Medwick, Peppe, Martin and Ripper Collins, are not for sale. The Giants would like to have Collins as a replacement for Manager Bill Terry, on record as planning to retire next year, but the best guess is that New York will do business again with the Phillies for the purpose desired.

The deal that's "on the fire" would send Dolph Camilli, slugging first baseman of the Phils, to the Polo Grounds in exchange for Roy Parmelee, erratic right-handed pitcher, Phil Weintraub, combination outfielder-first baseman, and a bundle of treasury notes.

The Giants also would like to get Burgess Whitehead, utility infielder of the Cardinals, but the stumbling block is that Manager Frankie Frisch, already signed up for 1936, wants him around in case his (Frisch's) aging legs give out.

Jacobs May Corner Prize Ring Game

New York, Oct. 2 (AP)—The boxing world was waiting today to see whether Mike Jacobs was going to have big-time boxing promotion all to himself.

The Associated Press learned from reliable sources in Detroit last night that Jacobs, promoter of the Louis-Baer fight which grossed more than a million dollars recently, expected to take over the prize ring privileges of New York's Madison Square Garden, main competitor to Jacobs' Twentieth Century Club.

His control would cover the next five years and include the Garden's outdoor bowl.

A proposal that Jacobs take over this department it was learned, was the outcome of the proxy battle between Col. John R. Kilpatrick, president of the Garden Corporation, and Col. John S. Hammond, Hammond and Jacobs are former associates of Tex Rickard.

The battle of the colonels ended yesterday when Hammond, who was defeated in the proxy contest, lost his position as chairman of the board of directors. Kilpatrick was again named president of the corporation and its subsidiary, the New York Rangers Professional Hockey Club. The latter position had been held by Hammond.

The news from Detroit was in contrast to the announcement of officials following the meeting. They said that no changes in policy were anticipated and that important personnel of the organization would be unchanged "for the time being."

Jacobs was considering two propositions, one a flat rental of the Garden for the 14 Friday nights open to boxing during the indoor season, the other a guarantee for a season plus a liberal percentage of the profits above a certain figure. Profits from outdoor shows in the big bowl on Long Island also would be shared by the promoter and the Garden.

Jacobs is in Detroit to discuss with automobile interests a possible Schmeling-Louis fight there next June.

Indianapolis Ray Steele, 218, Glendale, Calif., defeated Roland Kirschmeyer, 228, Oklahoma City, Okla. two out of three falls.

Scalpers, Fans, Agents In Ticket Drama Today

Chicago, Oct. 2 (AP)—Ticket hungry Cub fans, police and the Department of Internal Revenue, joined in a big hunt for World Series duels today.

Thousands of fans, disappointed yesterday when the entire supply of 37,000 reserved seats—grandstand and boxes—was exhausted in less than four hours of an over-the-counter sale at Wrigley Field, were willing to pay premiums on numerous pasteboards reported to be in the hands of scalpers.

Police, however, were out to see that no scalping was done. The Department of Internal Revenue was alert to see that the government received its share of the money in tax, should scalping be accomplished in spite of police.

Reports were that a large number of tickets had been obtained by speculators through the use of "stoges," who received fees running as high as $10 from speculators to stand in line and purchase tickets.

Speculators early last night offered strips of three box seats tickets—one for each game in Chicago—which cost $19.89 at Wrigley Field at $75. Quotations on the $16.50 grandstand sets ran as high as $45.

Krusher, David Terry, Joseph M. Fowler, William P. Glass, Harry Caddy, Joe Koenig, Joseph McNeil, and others.

The Wiltwyck golfers have had a very successful season in their matches and hope to score another win Sunday.

Those desiring to witness the matches Sunday will get some real thrills. No admission will be charged to the grounds for those who care to watch the matches.

Bennett Rules Upon State Winery License

Albany, Oct. 2 (Special)—Attorney General John J. Bennett, Jr., in an opinion rendered to Edward J. Mulrooney, chairman of the State Liquor Authority, has ruled that a winery license is not required to crush and ferment grapes upon the licensed premises, and that he may receive wines manufactured elsewhere for the purpose of blending, subject to the proper rules and regulations of the State Liquor Authority. The licensee, however, may not receive wines merely for the purpose of bottling, Mr. Bennett told Chairman Mulrooney.
The above ruling is limited to wines manufactured in this state. It was also pointed out by the Attorney General.
"I am unable to find," Mr. Bennett's opinion reads, "any specific provisions requiring a winery, in the manufacture of wine, to actually crush the grapes upon the licensed premises. It is asserted that the world's best known vintners are producers of wines have never actually crushed and fermented, and that the products of many well known vintners consists wholly of wines grown in different sections, brought into and blended in their own establishments and then sophisticated by proper, careful and scientific storing, aging, fining, clarifying, racking and filtering."
"It is further urged that the processes of crushing and fermenting is one that is best performed in the place, or as near to the place, of vintage as practicable," the Attorney General concludes.

Sentence for Assault
Lansing, Mich., Oct. 2 (AP).—Spencer Rogers, a star last year on the Michigan State College basketball team, and Alexander Varsoke, a former classmate, today awaited sentence for attempting to assault a 17-year-old Lansing girl. A circuit court jury convicted the 20-year-old former students late yesterday. The original charge against them was criminal assault. Sentence will be pronounced Saturday. Rogers and Varsoke are from Amsterdam, N. Y.

Convention of Nurses, Syracuse Oct. 14-19

The place of nurses in the health program of New York and in the move to make good nursing service available for all who are in need will be discussed at the annual convention of the three state nursing organizations, Syracuse, October 14-17.
The convention theme, "Bridging the gap," will be developed by Miss Annie W. Goodrich, dean of the Army school of nursing during the World War and former dean of the Yale University School of nursing.
A representative number of nurses from Greene, Ulster, Sullivan, Orange and Rockland counties, comprising District No. 11 of the Association, will attend the convention. Heading the delegation will be Miss Francis W. Witte and Mrs. Hilda C. Schmalboch of the Rockland State Hospital, respectively president and chairman of the revisions and credentials committee of the district association.

OLD HURLEY SCHOOL PLANS FOR BUSY YEAR.

(Contributed.)
Four weeks ago, September 3, Hurley school opened its doors for its 1935-36 session. The school is slightly smaller this year, registering 44 in the upper room and 37 in the primary. The usual spirit of good will and cooperation is in evidence and many are the plans for a happy and busy year. The school voted to appropriate part of its funds earned last year by the pupils and teachers to the purchase of basketball and baseball equipment, also a chinning bar and games for the primary children. In this connection we wish to thank our district for its repair of our swings as our little ones enjoy them more than anything else on the playground.
The school work has been largely in project form. The eighth grade project has been a study of Indian life and customs centering around the poem, "The Song of Hiawatha," which they have greatly enjoyed. In connection with the study of this beautiful lyric they are making a "Hiawatha" booklet, consisting of sections of the poem, drawings and essays on the various phases of Indian life.
The eighth grade also have been making a study of the inventions and inventors of the 19th century, including American locomotion, the steamboat, the telephone, the Atlantic cable, the telephone and the Bessemer process of making steel which latter brought in the study of the lives of both Henry Bessemer and Andrew Carnegie.
The project affording perhaps the greatest amount of general interest has been that based on the big topic of the day "the trouble between Italy and Ethiopia." Geography, current events and English. It has caused much newspaper research and the pupils have kept the bulletin board well supplied with maps, newspaper clippings of both countries. The teacher was highly gratified to hear a small girl say she liked social studies so much. It was so easy and so interesting. It will be the most earnest aim of the teacher to keep it interesting and then of course it will be easy.
The grammar room was most happy to welcome to their midst the eight pupils promoted from third to fourth grade.
Mr. Loughran, our trustee thinks he can make it possible for the civic class to visit the Naturalization court when it is in session at Kingston. The class have been studying American Citizenship and the manner by which an alien can gain that inestimable privilege.
We are always proud of our pupils and we trust we may be pardoned if we feel too much pride in the fact that one of our boys graduating from the sixth grade here was placed in higher seventh in one of the schools of our neighboring city.

Y. W. C. A. Annual Fall Rally Oct. 21

Announcement has been made by the membership committee of the local Y. W. C. A. that the annual fall rally will be held on Monday evening, October 21. Each department of the association will contribute something toward the program, which promises to be one of genuine interest.
The main feature this year will be a one-act play, "Rehearsal at Seven," which will be presented by 14 of the senior members of the "Y" under the direction of Mrs. Frederic Holcomb. The rally opens the annual membership roll call of the Y. W. C. A. which will continue through the last week of October. Mrs. John Matthews and Mrs. Myron Teller are co-chairmen of the membership committee and they are already lining up the captains and teams.

YOUTH COUNCIL CABINET MET TUESDAY NIGHT

The regular monthly cabinet meeting of the Ulster County Christian Youth Council was held in the Y. M. C. A. Tuesday evening.
At the meeting, a plan was adopted to broaden the work of the council, by which the council could help all young peoples groups throughout the county. Included in this plan was the decision to publish a monthly bulletin containing hints, suggestions and information for both worship and recreational programs for use in the young people's groups. Plans were also made for a drive for new members. Roger Mable, president of the council, presided at the meeting.
The resignation of Burt Van Deusen, former advisor of the council and now a student at Springfield College, was read and accepted. As a token of the council's appreciation for Mr. Van Deusen, the members decided to give him a gift of a year's subscription to The Freeman.

Royal Yellow Dogs Held 10th Reunion

The Order of the Royal Yellow Dogs of America, which originated at Gilboa during the construction of the New York city dam and reservoir, had its 10th annual meeting at Grand Gorge on Monday evening, September 30, at George Rest on the Stamford road.
Members from Kingston, Prattsville, Catskill, Roxbury and Stamford; Orlando and Fort Pierce, Fla., and Hollywood, Calif., were present. It was regretted that the former chaplain, the Rev. Father J. J. Cleary, of Berlin, N. Y., did not receive word in time to be present, which was also true of many other charter members, who would have been on hand if their notices had been received in time. Addressees of several members are unknown at present. Letters were received from other chapters, especially interesting was the one from Fort Pierce, Fla., a new and very active branch which has a club house and a waiting list of members. It is expected that a chapter will soon be formed in Kingston, as there are enough members there locally to receive a charter.
The general good time was preceded by a business meeting, at which it was decided by the original charter members to make a chapter at Grand Gorge. Under the leadership of Dr. M. J. Vogt, the merits of the order were explained and it was unanimously voted to present a charter by the following original charter members, namely, Dr. M. J. Vogt, James W. Gordon, Sidney K. Clapp, David Goldberger, Harry Keyser, Charles Mackey, Marvin Simonson, Lester Joslyn, William Sebeck.
Those presenting themselves for initiation at this time were: Lamson Van Steenberg and Francis Morris, both of Kingston; Robert Massell of Prattsville, Robert O. H. Pace of North Carolina, Eugene Mackey of Stamford, Charles Sebeck of Grand Gorge, who were duly received into the order with appropriate ceremonies and presented with emblematic pins of the order.
A very interesting occurrence was the fact that the meeting happened on the birthday anniversary of the genial hostess, Mrs. Blanche Sebeck, who besides supplying a most bountiful and perfectly served repast, was guest of honor for the occasion.
Music for the meeting was furnished by "Der Hund" Quartet, consisting of Lester Joslyn, Charles and Eugene Mackey and Harry Keyser. Songs, stories and a general good time lasted into the small hours.

Spring Air
2-PART
Sleep Cushion

A mattress that is easier to handle, more sanitary, more comfortable, and much more economical. All the padding on top, where it belongs, and the famous Karr spring-mat underneath; all steel; but as flexible as rubber. Each part can be rolled up and carried under your arm, so you can turn, fluff and air your bed with practically no effort.

1,030 hospitals (including Cornell Medical Center, N. Y.) and leading hotels everywhere recommend it!
